1963 Post Script

Volume 24

Marshalltown Senior High School

Marshalltown, Iowa

Over your shoulder . . .

We, the authors of this book, are asking you—especially you students finishing your last year at MHS—to interrupt your routine for a few minutes and glance back over your shoulder at the school year, 1962-63.

In the hustle of today's world, you don't take the time to look back at the pages you have passed in the history of your lives. School life is an important page in your history. The sociologist will tell you that it was then you experienced your first social life—new experiences, new friends, recognition. The psychologist will tell you it was there you formed your outlook on life. The educator will tell you that school was the building block for your future success.

As years pass, you will forget faces and names, activities and games. When you have, take from an obscure shelf a dusty book marked "1963 Post Script."

We, the authors, have set a picture of the school year before you. You have time now. Look at it—over your shoulder.

Dedicated to . . .

. . . a teacher whose cheerful attitude and understanding has made her a close friend to many . . . one with a willingness to go out of her way to help students, both in class and out . . . whose classes have learned respect with a touch of humor . . .

This is the MHS we remember . . .

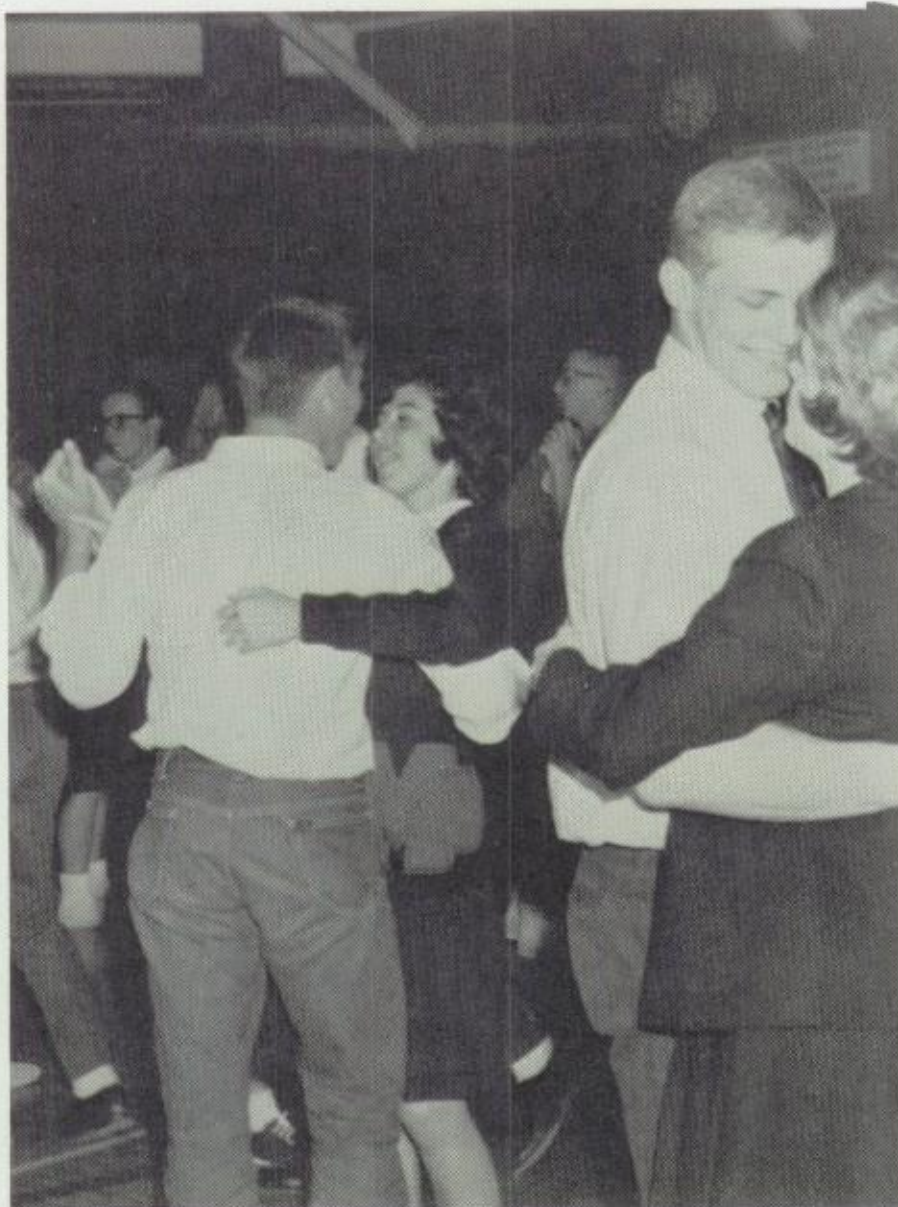

... people and places and things.

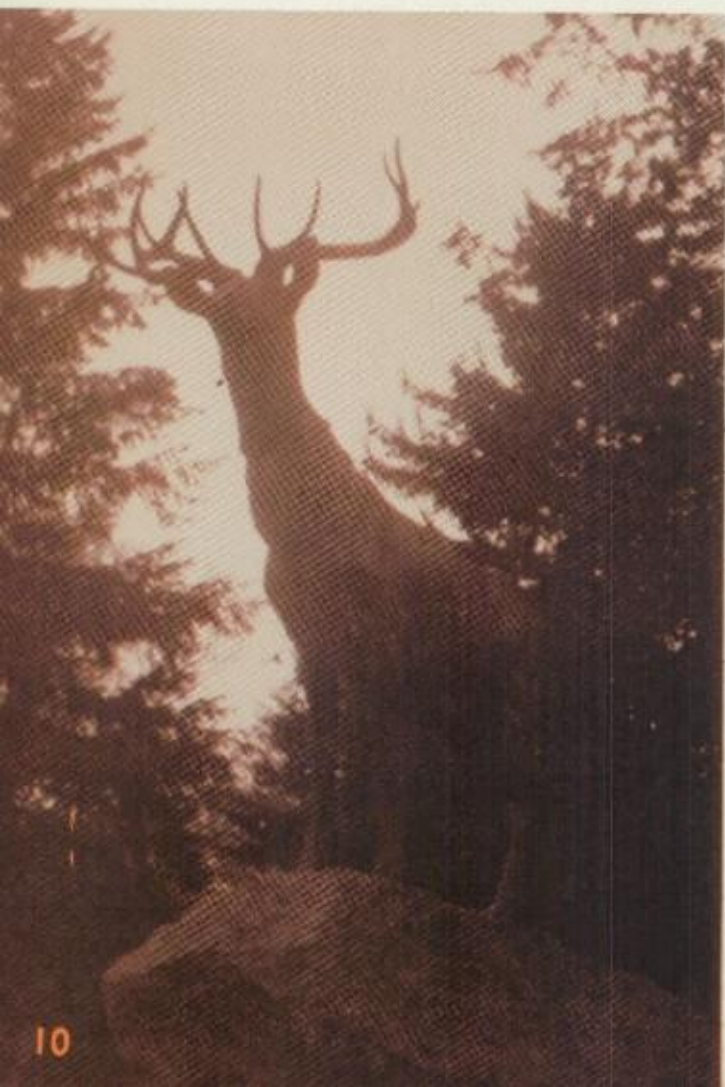

The routine happenings . . .

... familiar to our senses of sight and touch, taste and smell, hearing.

What we talk about - a painted elk

... a low grade, a sharp couple.

Each student both a follower and a leader . . .

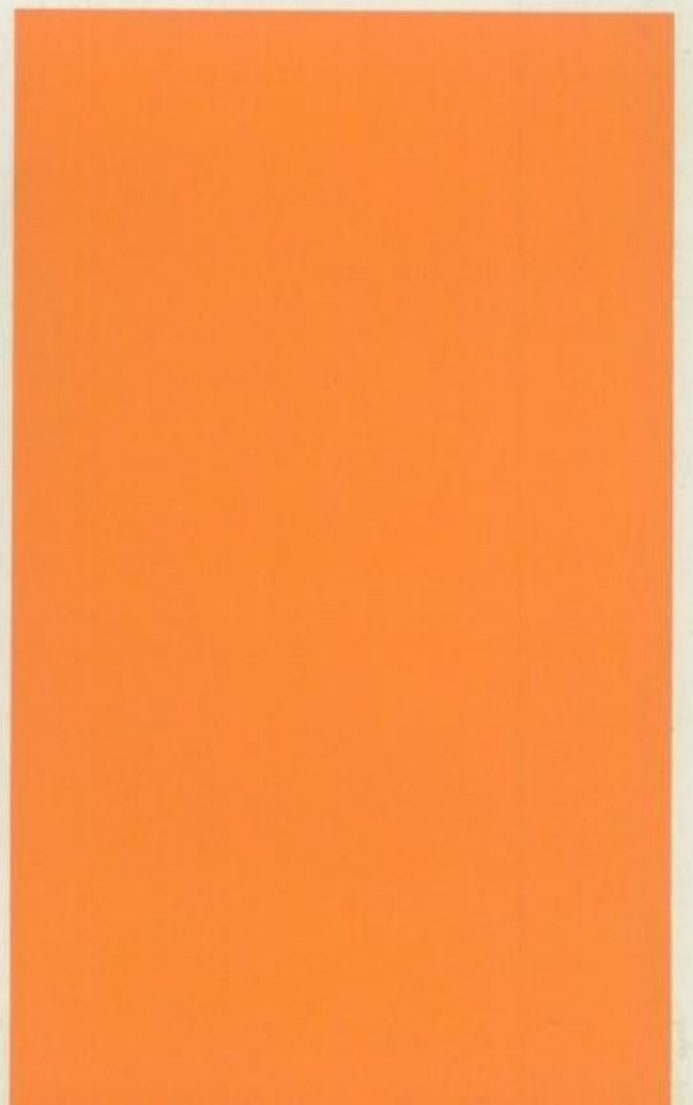

. . . a speaker and a listener.

Expressing individuality or conformity . . .

. . . to fads such as the "wig craze."

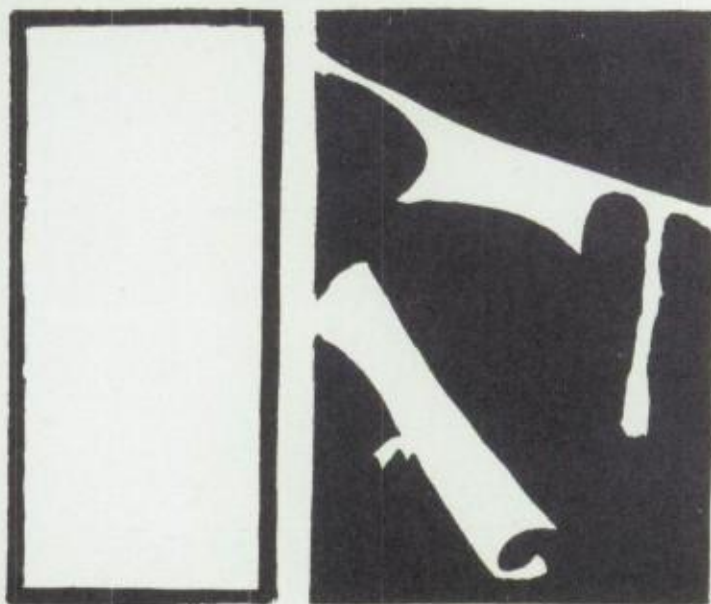

We begin to understand ourselves.

Seniors

Seniors—Take one last look back before you go your separate ways, and you will see yourselves lost in the whirl of school activities—one one-thousandth of the student body doing your part to make the school year run smoothly. You were no longer followers, but leaders—the heads of organizations, the stars in sports, the best informed, the biggest, the most mature—the seniors.

Chris Rosenfeld receives royal welcome

During the Homecoming assembly, Joyce Hoffman and Gay Gantt reward Chris for coming to our school.

Christian Rosenfeld, Marshalltown High School's foreign exchange student, has become extremely active in school activities. His main interests have been in the speech and vocal music departments.

Since arriving here in August he has been well received. He first stayed in the home of the Dean De Witts, and later with the Leonard Grimes.

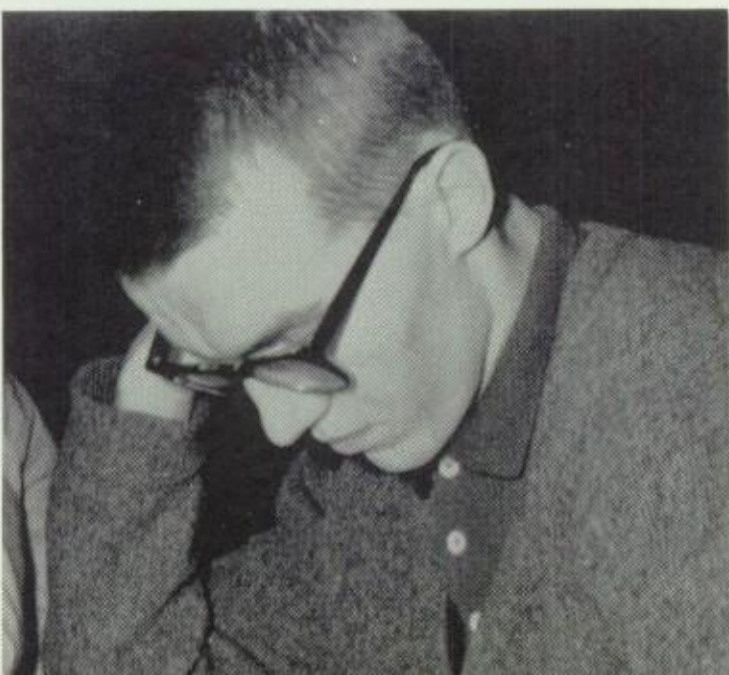

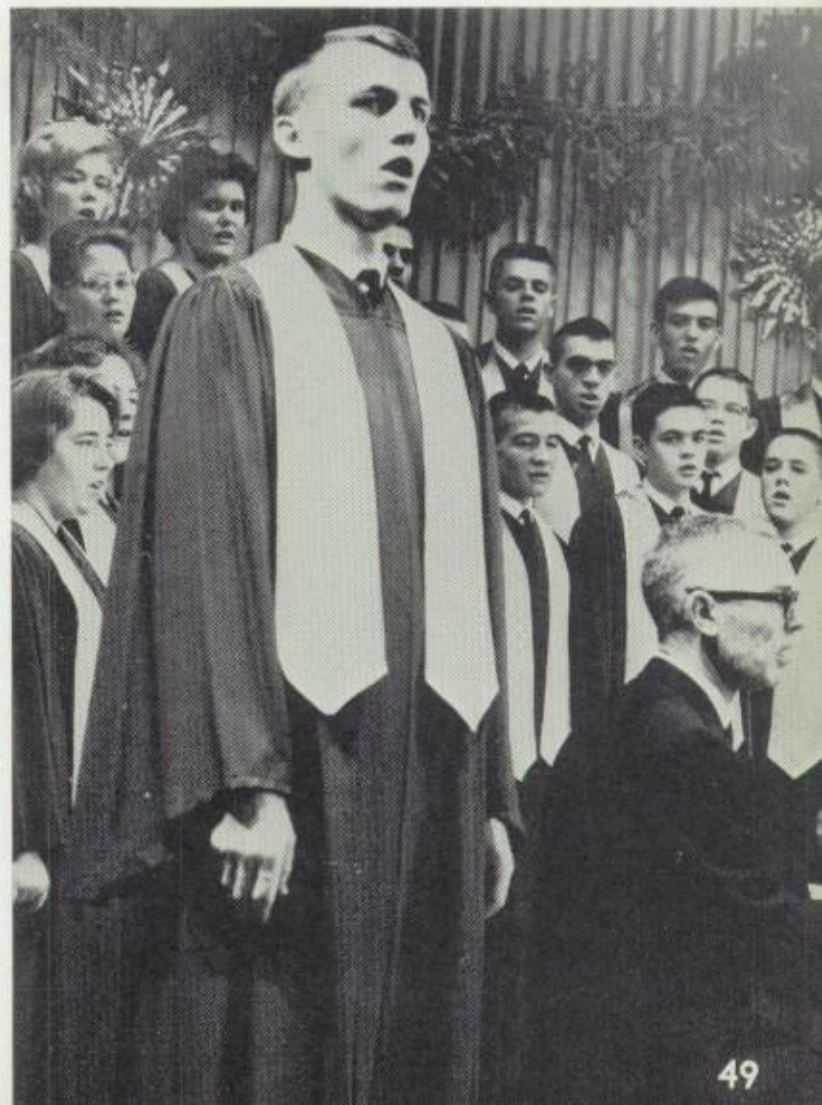

As their first project, Marshalltown's branch of the American Field Service brought him over from Austria. They hope in the future to send a student from Marshalltown to a foreign school.

One feature of the high school's Christmas program was a solo which Chris sang in German, with the accompaniment of Mr. Steven Melvin.

In class, Chris becomes absorbed in his studies. He has already graduated from the Austrian equivalent of high school, and will receive no credits for this year's studies.

Underclassmen

Underclassmen—look back over your shoulder. You will see yourself lost in your own world, characterized by your fads, your own special language, parties, and so many new activities that there doesn't seem to be time for schoolwork. Listen, and you'll hear the taunting "Sophomore!" as you drop your lunch tray.

Today you dream of making the world over. Tomorrow you'll have your chance.

Look into a typical classroom. You may see yourself gazing out the window at a beautiful spring day while a teacher explains in a monotonous voice the difference between inflation and deflation or why x equals y . You may find yourself sitting entranced as he explains why Hamlet was mad. You had favorite teachers and favorite subjects. You were given assignments you didn't mind doing and those which you dreaded.

Although you may not have realized it, your teachers and your textbooks were preparing you for the adult world you would face when you left the classroom.

Another vital part of school is what happens behind the scenes. A ball is started rolling by your parents, the taxpayers, who elect a school board. It ricochets through the school board, to the administration, to the faculty, and finally to you, the student. The ball takes the form of your education and never stops rolling.

In memoriam . . .

B. R. Miller (1896-1962)

Our late principal, Mr. B. R. Miller, will not soon be forgotten by the many students of Marshalltown High School, past and present. Mr. Miller contributed much to the development of MHS and the beginning of Marshalltown Community College. He was hired when the present Marshalltown High School building was opened in 1925 and helped it to become recognized as one of the better secondary school systems in Iowa.

Mr. Miller was a wise counselor and helpful to all who needed his guidance. His presence and sound judgment will be greatly missed.

J. C. Hoglan, B.A., M.A.

Superintendent of Schools

Heading the Marshalltown Community School District for the 17th year is Mr. J. C. Hoglan, superintendent of schools. His duties include the supervision of 15 schools, including 1 community college, 1 high school, 2 junior high schools, and 11 grade schools.

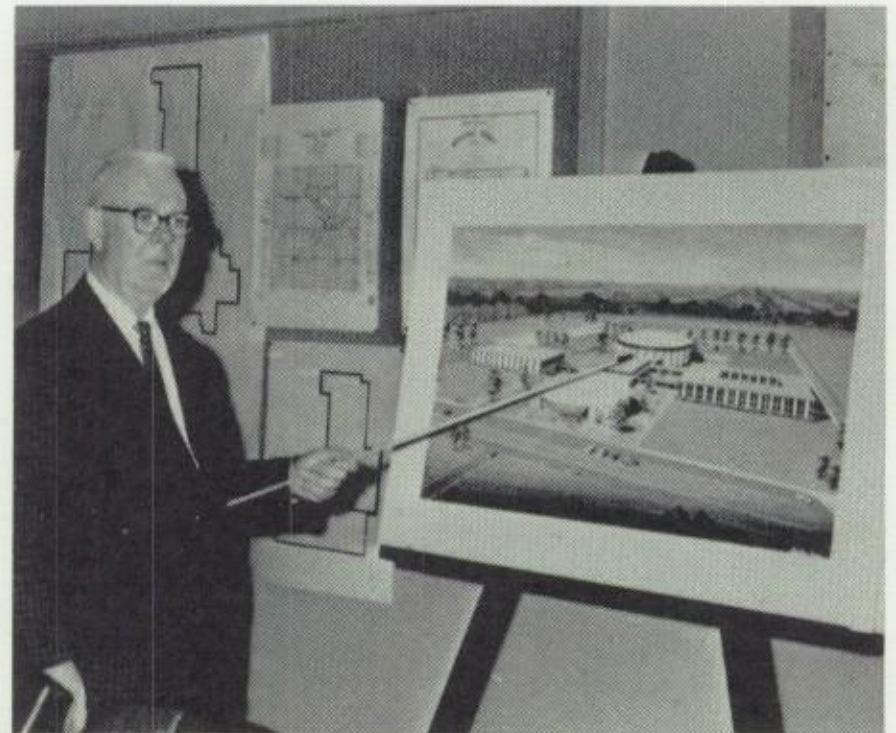

A total of 265 teachers and 5,846 students are under his guidance. These figures include 57 teachers and 990 students at MHS. With the approval of the Board of Education, he is responsible for the hiring of new faculty members.

In addition to his duties as superintendent, Mr. Hoglan is active in civic affairs and is a member of several education associations.

School officials lead drive for new school

With an overwhelming majority of 79%, a bond issue providing for the construction of a new senior high school was approved by the voters of the Marshalltown Community School District. A total of 6,032 votes were cast in the November 23, 1962, election, an unprecedented total for a bond election.

Board of Education members and school officials campaigned vigorously for the passage of the bond issue. Numerous speeches were presented to all types of organizations in an attempt to inform all citizens of the need for a new high school.

Ray Linehan, B.A., M.A.
Acting Principal

Preparing for the opening of the school year is a job requiring a great effort on the part of the office staff. Enrollment, guidance, and activity scheduling take weeks of concentrated planning. With the opening of classes in September, additional obligations arise as new students enter, new faculty members need orientation, and countless decisions present themselves.

Due to the death of Mr. B. R. Miller, Mr. Ray Linehan has assumed the position of acting principal, in addition to serving in the capacities of assistant principal and athletic director. He is assisted by two full-time secretaries, Mrs. Margaret Maxwell and Miss Donna Mason, and one part-time secretary, Miss Marilyn Riemenschneider.

Jan Hotger and Janie Small do a little mental arithmetic before splurging on their meal from the a la carte line.

Although most students do not realize it, operating a school cafeteria can be big business.

The kitchens located in the senior high building prepare food for 950 high school students and 550 junior high students. The food is transported daily to Central Junior High School.

A self-supporting, non-profit organization, the cafeteria pays all its own bills out of money received for lunches and extra servings. It also pays for its own staff's salaries. Thirty-seven adults are employed by the cafeteria.

Planning the week's menu are Mrs. Blanche Day, Mrs. Marie Gould, and Mrs. Roberta Cribbs.

Taking time out from their busy schedule in the cafeteria are Dorothy Buchan, Glorene Calkins, Marie Smith, Ollie Casey, Virginia Gumbert, and Donna Lawrence.

Everyone is kept busy in the cafeteria. Annabelle Gannon, Dorothy Oak, Leila Severance, Marie Bowman, and Mary Alice Groff are no exceptions.

Mrs. Nolan Phillips assists the daytime custodians.

Discussion periods in Mrs. Walker's sophomore English class allow the students to receive a better understanding of grammar principles.

Two English programs meet students' needs

An outstanding feature of English at MHS is the division of senior English into terminal and college preparatory courses. Terminal English is for those students who are planning for jobs or going to a business school immediately after graduation and college prep is for those students who are definitely college-bound. They both teach basically the same things but do not go into them in equal depth.

Junior English students study American literature for an over-all comprehensive background. Sophomore English students learn to further their writing and reading skills by studying the form of short stories and novels, rather than the content.

Mr. Robert Cramer explains the Shakespearean theater to Cheryl Brown and Doug Boyd during the study of Hamlet.

The social studies curriculum includes world history, American history, sociology, economics, civics, driver education, and marriage and family life.

Western civilization in modern times is the main subject of social studies. The aim is to develop citizens for a democratic society and promote understanding of the governmental systems of America.

Other courses deal with human relations and interaction in our culture.

Driver education includes both classroom study and behind-the-wheel driving.

Mr. Permar explains key battlegrounds of the Civil War to his American history class.

Modern ideas discussed in social studies

Speaking to a civics class, Mr. E. C. Glans emphasizes the importance of the bond election.

Driver's ed includes more than behind-the-wheel driving. Steve Wolfe practices changing a tire.

Laboratory, projects extend language skills

The main objective of instruction in the modern languages at MHS—French and Spanish—is to give the student a basic understanding of the grammar of the language and also to enable him to carry on a simple conversation with a native speaker of the language. In the second year the student learns to carry on more difficult conversations and also to read a variety of novels and novellettes. The language laboratory, now completing its third year of use, has proven very useful in achieving these goals.

When taking the Latin course a student gets a background for the modern languages and gains a better understanding of English. Latin is also helpful to those planning careers in medicine, because the last quarter of the second year is devoted completely to medical Latin.

Carmen Groover and Larry Dieffenderfer further their study of foreign language through the use of Spanish magazines.

Some of the projects made by Latin students are displayed in Miss Shear's room.

Trying out the language lab in French class is senior Dave Gervich.

Ann Brennecke, Mike Wolfe and Lauren Sawtelle rehearse for the Christmas play, "There Rose Such a Clatter," in Miss Swinehart's speech class.

Communication skills stressed in courses

Speech is designed to improve diction and speaking by overcoming undesirable habits in speech and delivery. By practicing introductory speeches, announcements and presentations, parliamentary procedure and participation in dramatics, students develop poise.

Preparing Pebbles, Post Script, and Perspectives is the main activity in the journalism department. Copyreading, proof-reading, headline writing, journalistic style and advertising are covered.

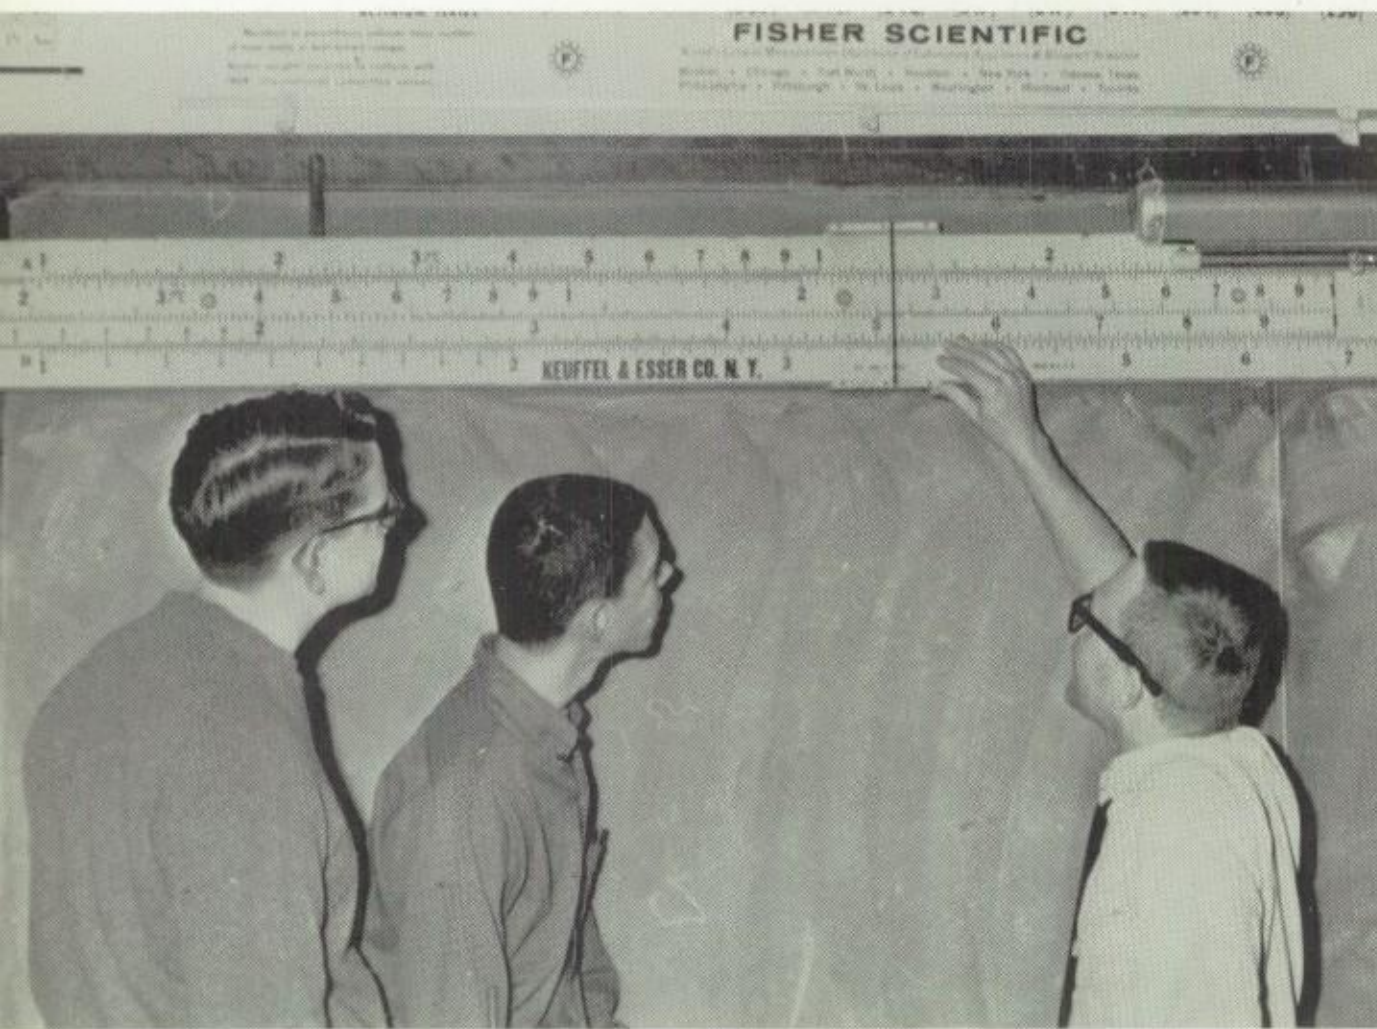

By extensive reading of current newspapers, students are encouraged to develop standards of evaluation and appreciation for various types of newspapers and news-writing.

Pat Weidner interviews Carlos Antillon, a Peruvian student here, for a story for PEBBLES.

Journalism students work hard on the publications sorting pictures, writing copy and doing layouts.

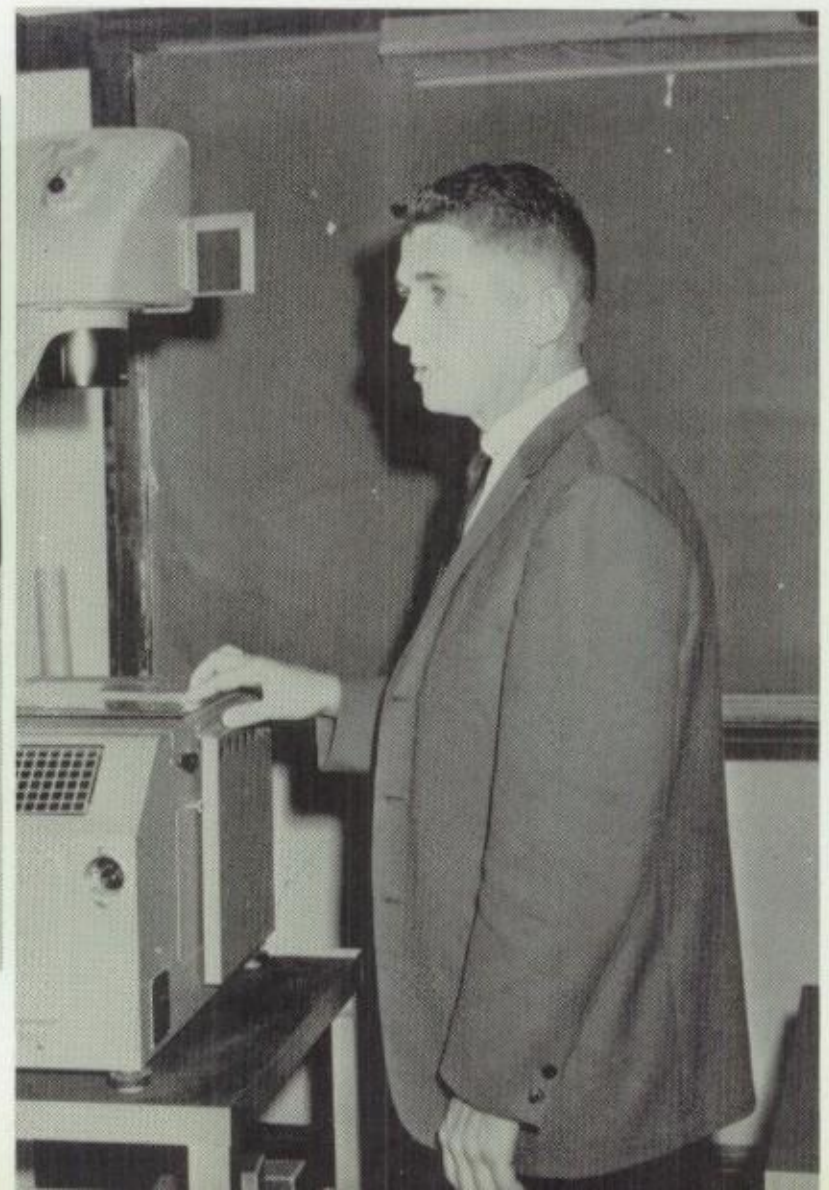

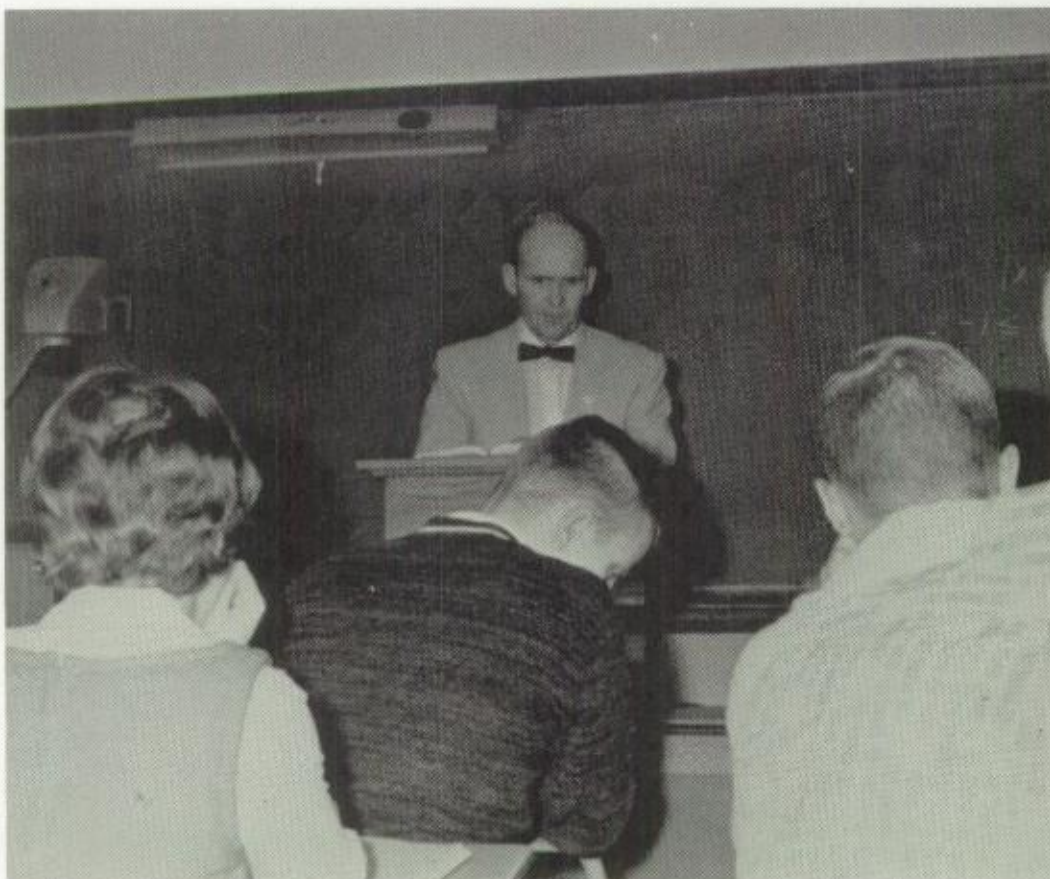

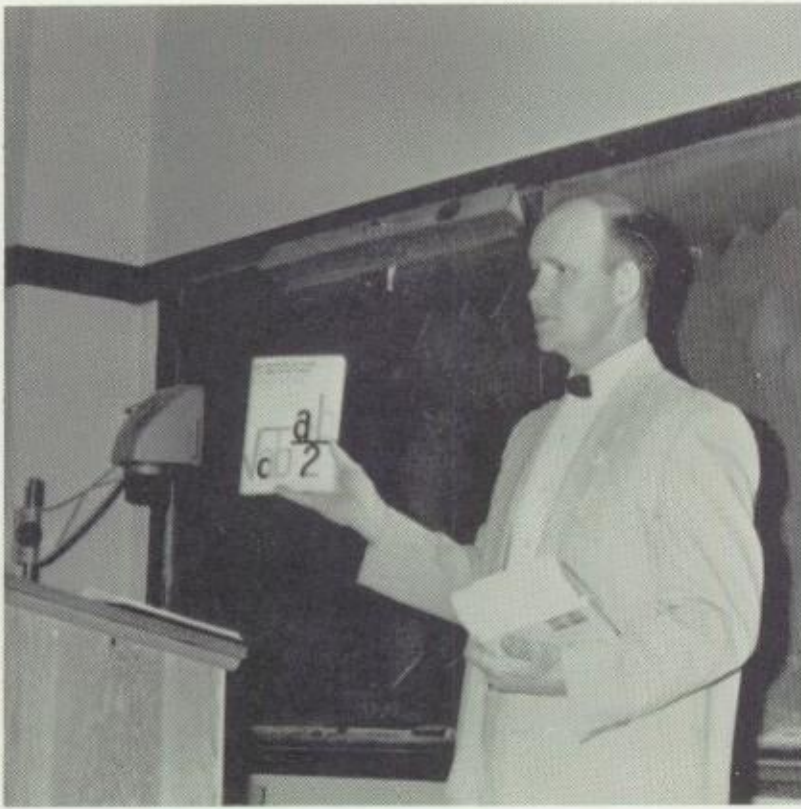

Mr. Benbow teaches John Gerwin and Geoff Grimes how to use the slide rule with a giant-size model.

Mathematics prepares students for college

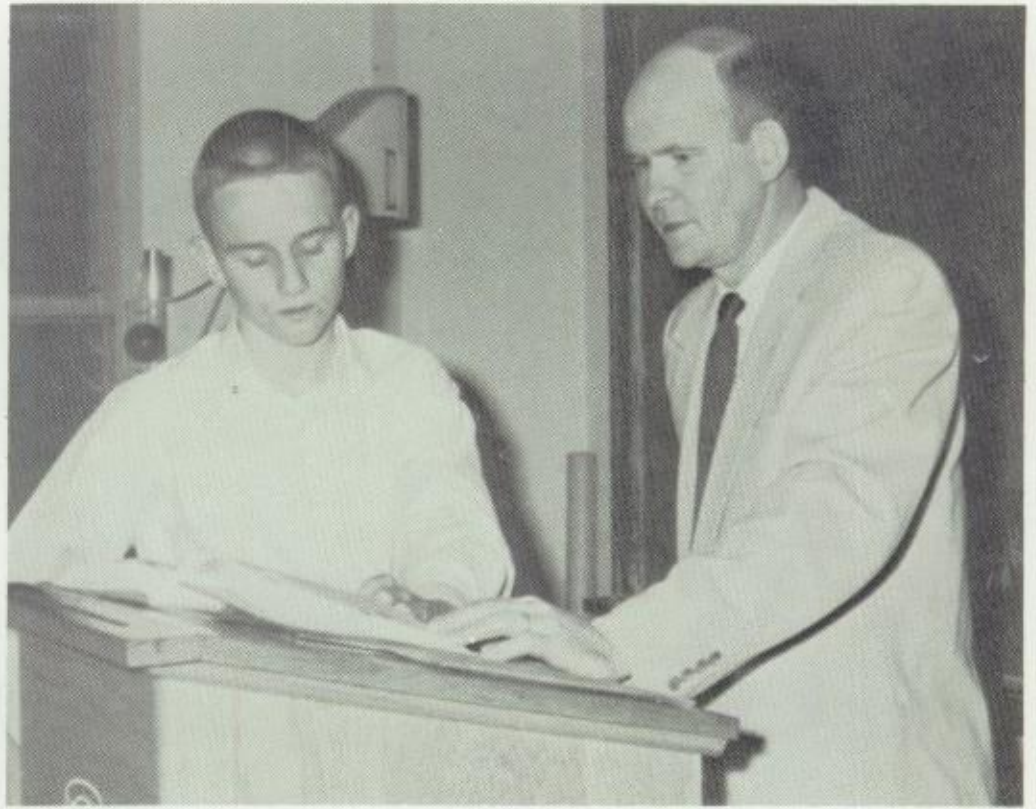

Preparing to project examples of geometry on the board through the use of the overhead projector is Mr. Gunderson.

Checking daily assignments is an important part of trigonometry.

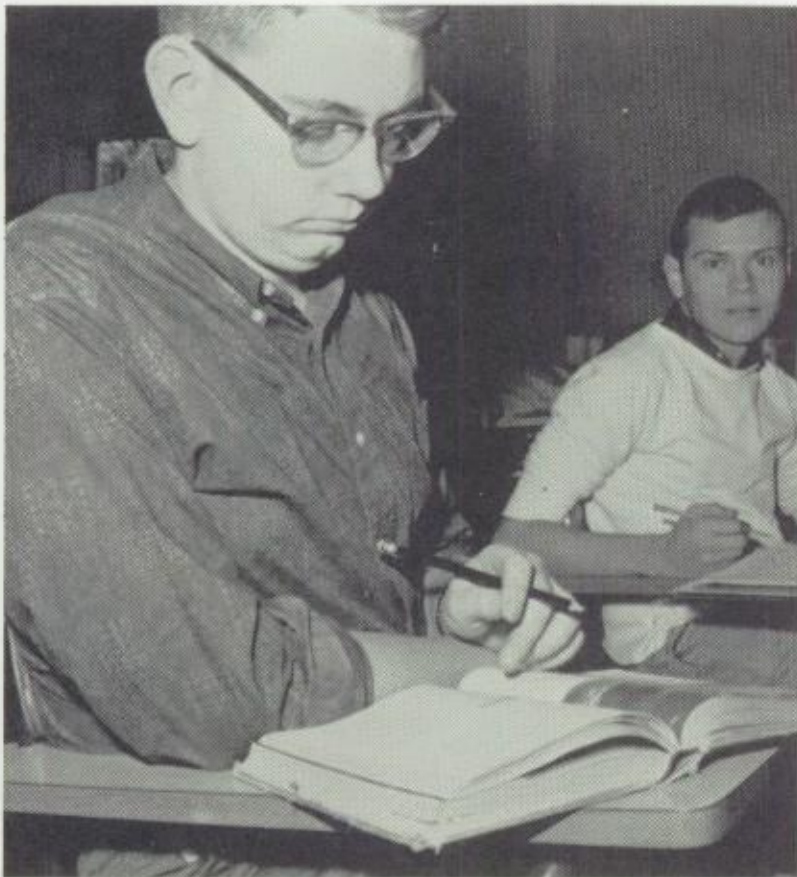

Lecturing takes much time in a trigonometry class.

Mr. Graham gives a pointer to Larry LaMasters on an algebra assignment.

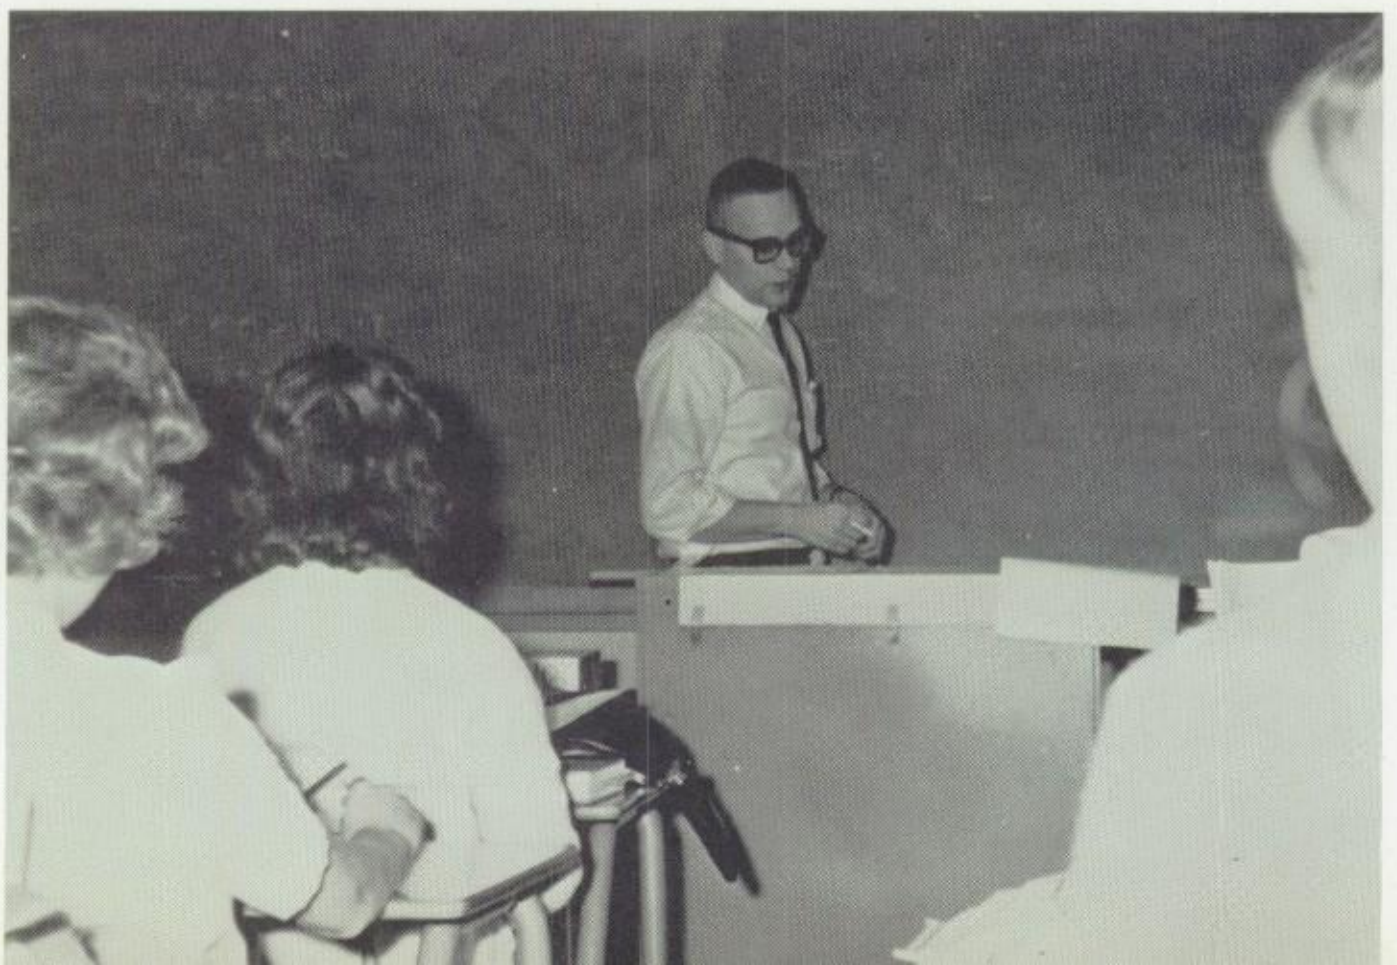

Working hard to finish an algebra assignment during study period is Geoff Grimes.

Advanced algebra is a review consisting of more advanced exercises with a definite hint to difficult problems that have applications to more advanced mathematics. An introduction of new topics, the second semester is comparable to college algebra.

Trigonometry is a necessary background for college math. The majority of the semester is spent solving triangles and studying the functions of general angles.

Many students find solid geometry a valuable subject because of the training it gives in both space perception and analytical thinking. Solid geometry is a prerequisite for those who expect to become engineers, physicists, architects, or astronomers.

Analytic geometry, a branch of math in which geometry is studied in terms of algebra, is a course designed for the college-bound student who might like to enter college under an advanced placement program.

Mr. Benbow's advanced algebra class studies a complicated problem.

Russ Hickman and Becky Jordan examine a white mouse in the greenhouse.

Biology, at the high school level, is a general course designed for all students who have a desire to learn more about living things. This course may be considered an essential to a well-rounded high school education.

Physics provides a start into the problem solving required in the scientific world of today. It is divided into mechanics, heat, electricity, sound, light, and atomic and nuclear physics.

Chemistry offers the study of the basic laws and principles which regulate and control the reactions between different substances in the universe. It is a required subject for nursing, engineering, dentistry, medicine, pharmacy, and home economics.

Mr. Troxel helps Richard Swanson with a physics problem. A new teacher this year, Mr. Troxel teaches one high school physics class and several community college chemistry and physics courses.

Ken Paxson and Jan Perrin study the life of aquatic species. Cyclops, seed shrimp, gammarus, daphnia, hydra, snails, and clams are some of the species kept in the aquarium.

Students discover scientific phenomena

Hunting for a bottle of cobalt chloride, Donny Dean prepares for an experiment.

Laboratory work not only helps the student to learn more, but also builds his interest. Karen Person works intently on a chemistry experiment.

Joy Black, Judy Bell, and Jean Cooklin learn the fundamentals of shorthand.

Through the commercial courses offered, students are prepared not only for careers in business, but also receive a general knowledge of skills that are beneficial in everyday life.

Personal typing allows the student to master the keyboard and have a fair rate of speed, with a reasonable amount of accuracy.

To present the commonplace functions of business that everyone will experience in his own personal life, regardless of occupation, and to contribute a better understanding of American business are the main purposes of the business principles course.

Bookkeeping, shorthand, typing, and clerical and secretarial training are designed for those interested in pursuing a business career. Upon successful completion of these courses, the student is ready for initial employment in the business world.

Girls learn to be fast, efficient, and neat in their typing.

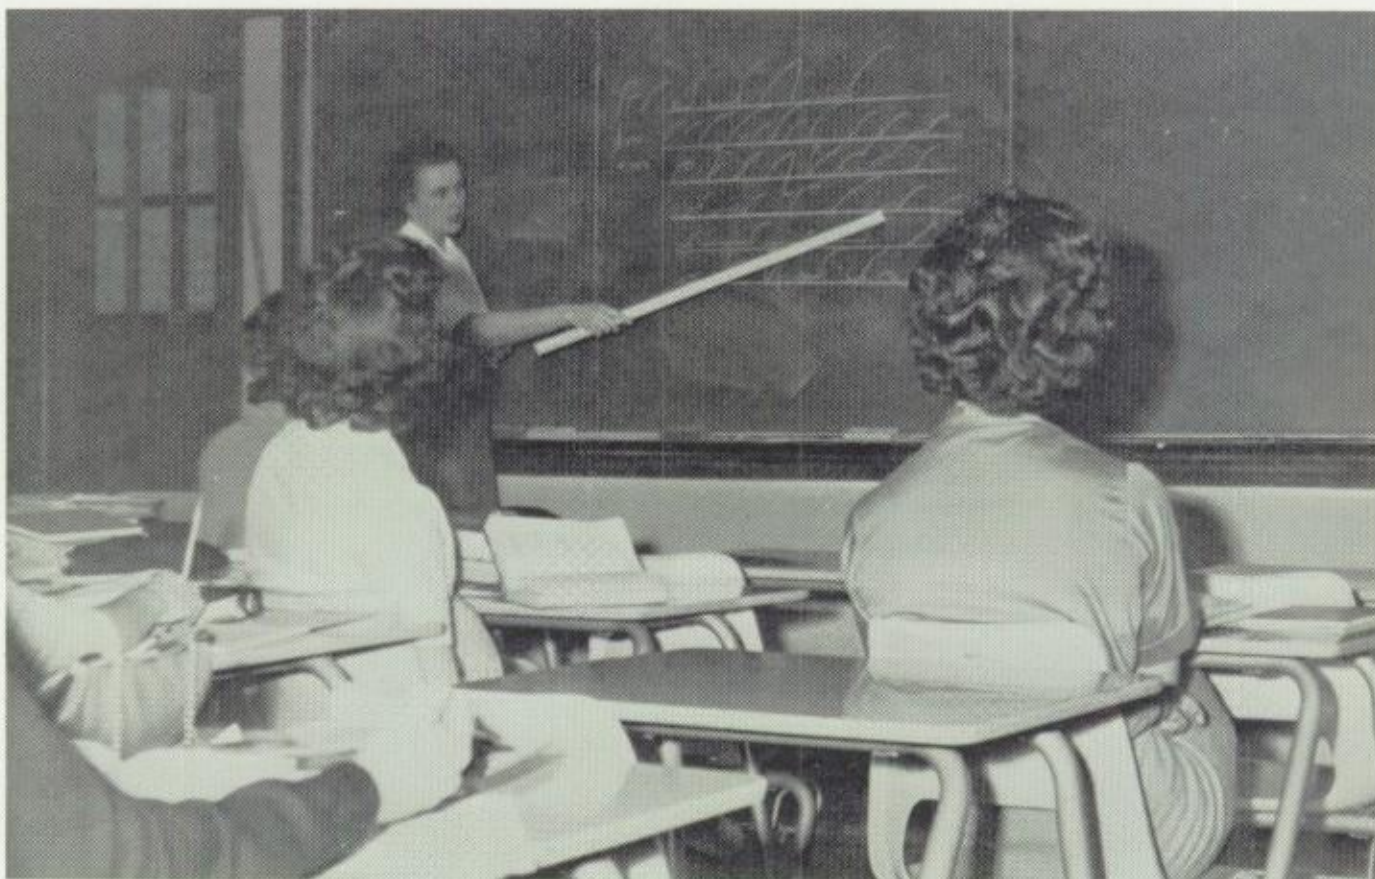

Practicing to improve their typing speeds are Wayne Bannon and Bill Martin.

Students prepare for business careers

Mrs. Hillis directs attention to the shorthand symbols on the blackboard.

To prepare senior boys and girls for useful employment following graduation is the purpose of the vocational program. School credit is given under the system operated by the state vocational department.

Coordinators counsel with the students concerning their training problems and confer with the employers relative to the students' progress. Half a day in school, followed by half a day of on-the-job training are spent by the vocational student.

Although the program is primarily designed to meet the needs of those who go into full time employment after graduation, the credits are acceptable in most colleges and universities, should the student eventually go on to further schooling.

Taking a patient his lunch at a nursing home is Terri Borgeson.

Rex Spooner tests a specimen of river water to determine its bacteria count.

Richard Swanson takes merchandise upstairs to be put on display.

Polishing shoes to be put on display is Jim Duff.

City business, industry employ students

Doris Luthi gets a cup of coffee for waiting customers.

Two types of training are included in the vocational program. In the area of retailing, students work directly with merchandise and consumers. Mr. Francis Burnham is the coordinator for retailing.

Services and trades include skilled jobs and those that provide a service to the public, such as hospital work. Coordinator of this phase is Mr. Donald Wilson.

English, gym and one class related to each particular type of job must be taken by the vocational student. Vocational credit may be given only upon satisfactory completion of both the job training and related class-work.

Setting the table, Barb Dudley and Karen Shewalter prepare for a home ec. party.

Home economics is no longer just a course in cooking and sewing. It has expanded to include other related topics, such as growth and development of children, human relations, buying for the home and family, foods and nutrition, clothing selection and construction, interior decoration, and budgeting.

Creativity is stressed in the sewing classes. Students can create the effect wanted by designing their own styles through basic patterns, colors, shapes and lines.

Home economics is taught in a more scientific way than formerly. Through the course, girls are prepared to be a better woman, wife and mother.

Home ec. includes more than cooking

Barb Yates models a wool dress she made as Kay Whittlesey and Carolyn Koehler make sure the length is correct.

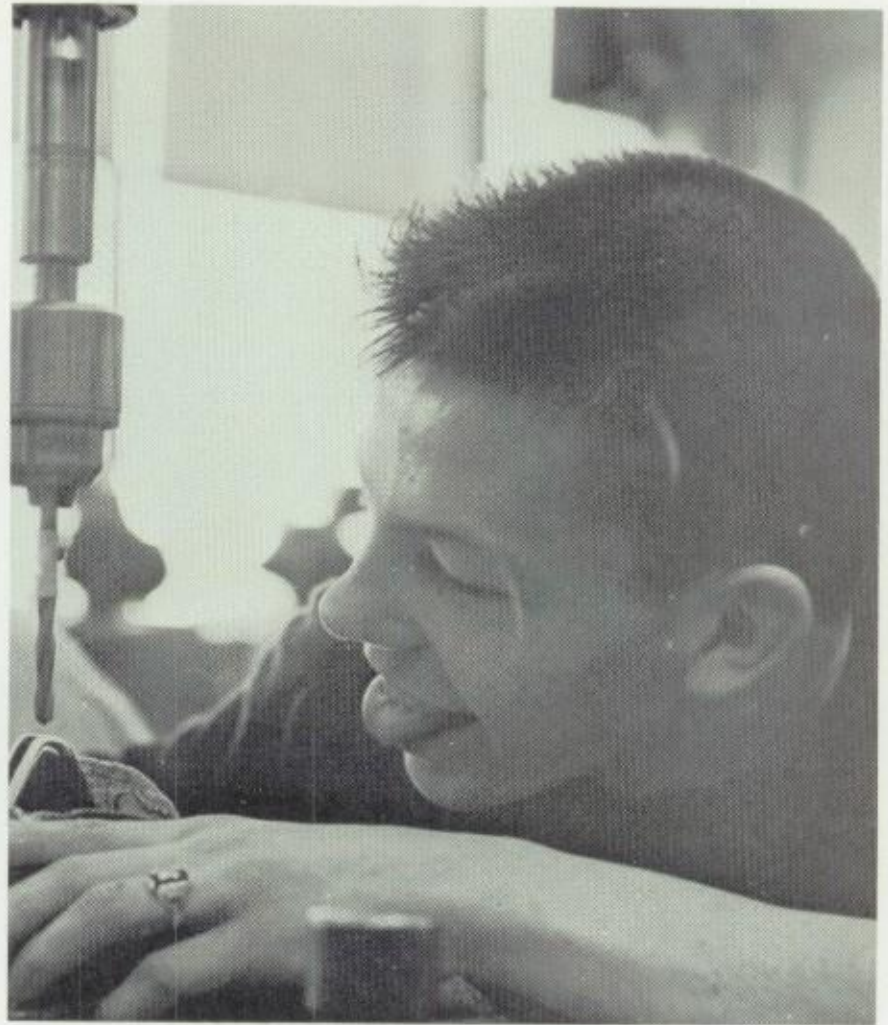

Miss Bishey points out the importance of good eating habits to Joan Henderson and Bev Anderson.

Boys prepare for tomorrow's industry

Pointing out the parts on a machine is Mr. Claypool, metals instructor.

John Shroyer puts the finishing touches on a project.

Mechanical drawing teaches the student to read and write the language of industry. The method of drafting that is used in the majority of industrial factories is taught. By taking mechanical drawing in high school and in one year of junior college, it is often possible to secure a job as draftsman in an industry.

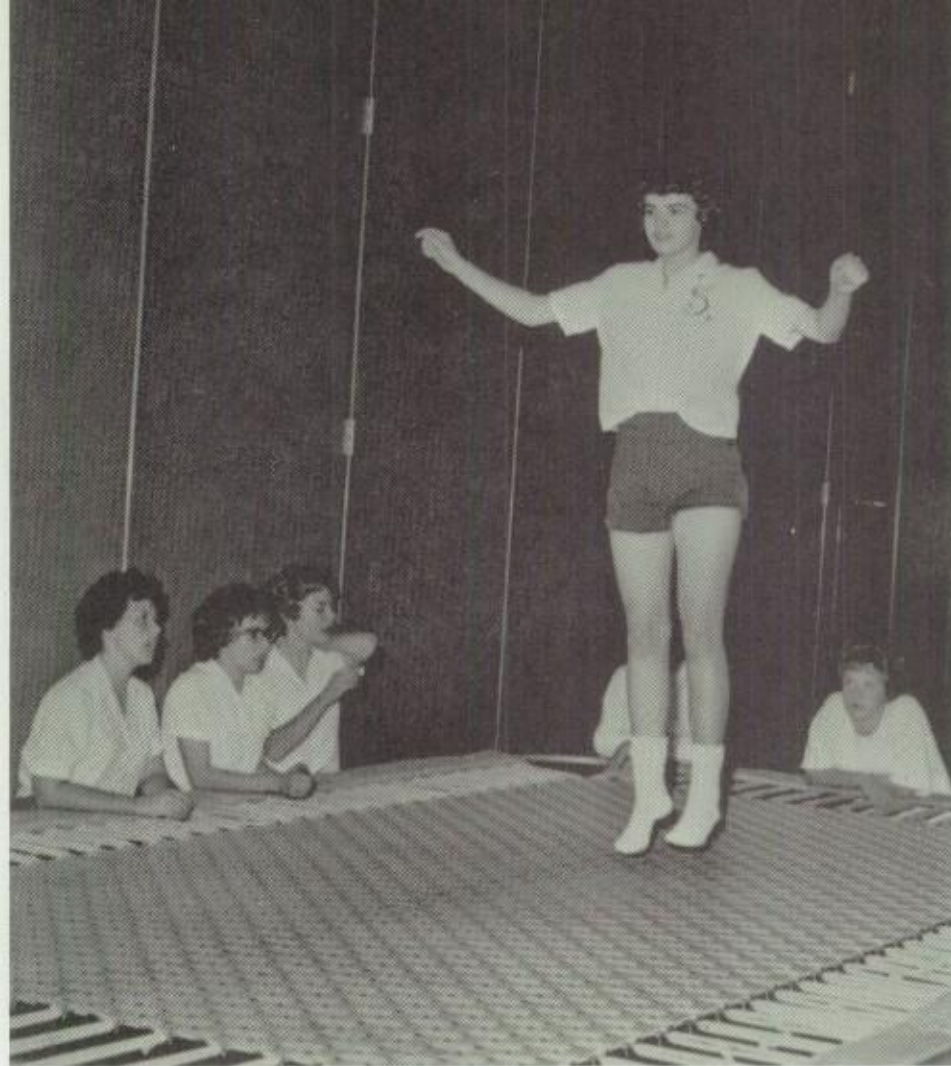

The electricity course can be compared to the electrical course given at the conclusion of physics, except that the subject matter is gone into much more deeply. Some students go on to become electrical engineers and others become radio and television technicians.

First year metals provides a general knowledge of machines and their uses and also indicates to the student whether he should continue with further study. With approval of the instructor, students may take advanced metals, a course that trains boys to work with machinery in a factory.

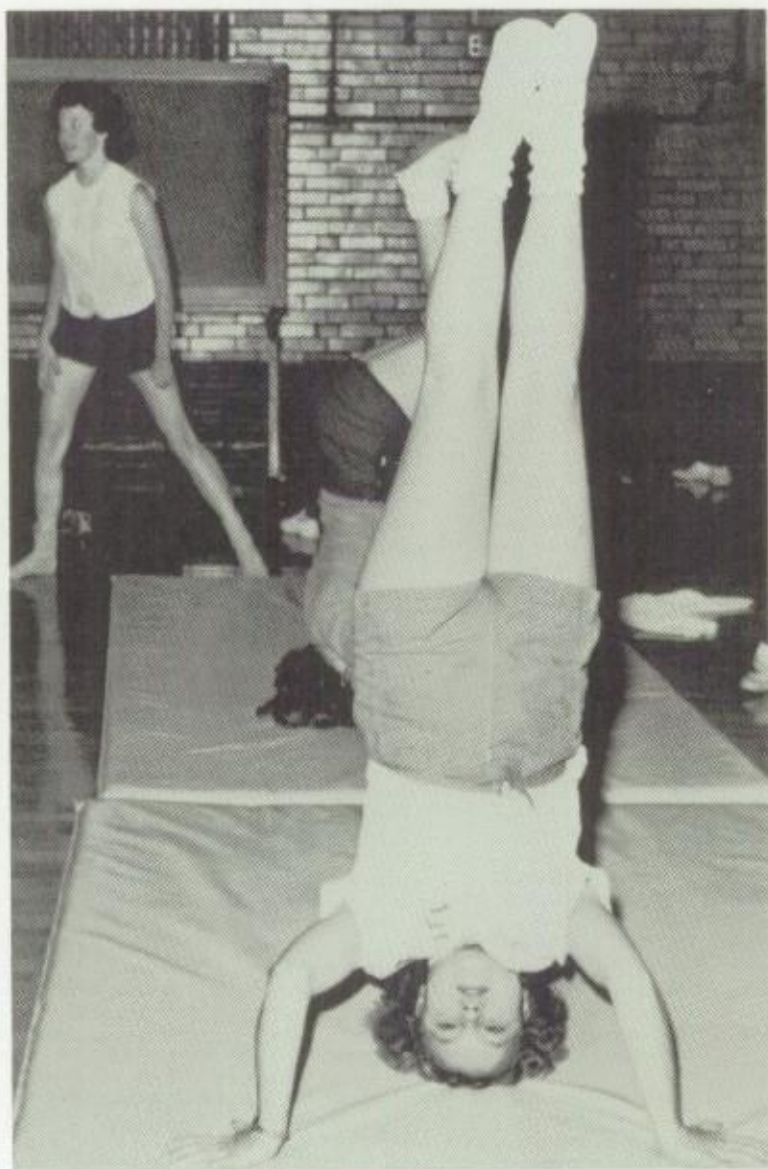

A variety of stunts are mastered by the girls. Linda Maas and Diane McKeag practice somersaults.

Girls' phys. ed. stresses individuality

Linda Maas demonstrates the art of balance as she stands on her head.

Through participation in gym class, girls have an opportunity to excel physically, rather than just academically. Each should learn to co-operate with others, accept defeat, and be a gracious winner.

Individual and team sports comprise the girls' physical education program. Individual and dual activities include archery, tennis, badminton, bowling, stunts, tumbling and apparatus. Volleyball, softball, basketball, touch football, kickball, deck tennis, track and field, and rhythmic activities are included in team games.

Both gym and swimming provide a needed break from the regular routine of school and allow students to "let off steam."

This year, more than ever, an attempt is being made in boys' gym and swimming classes to provide some type of physical activity for every boy. President Kennedy's physical fitness program is serving as a basis for this attempt.

In the spring and fall, weather permitting, gym classes go outside and play either football or soccer. Such games as volleyball, basketball, and dodgeball constitute the winter program. In addition, some of the boys learn how to use the different types of gymnastic apparatus, such as the parallel bars and high bar.

Swimming consists of two types of classes: beginning and advanced. In the beginners' program the goal is to teach the boy to swim. Strokes already partially developed are improved in the advanced classes.

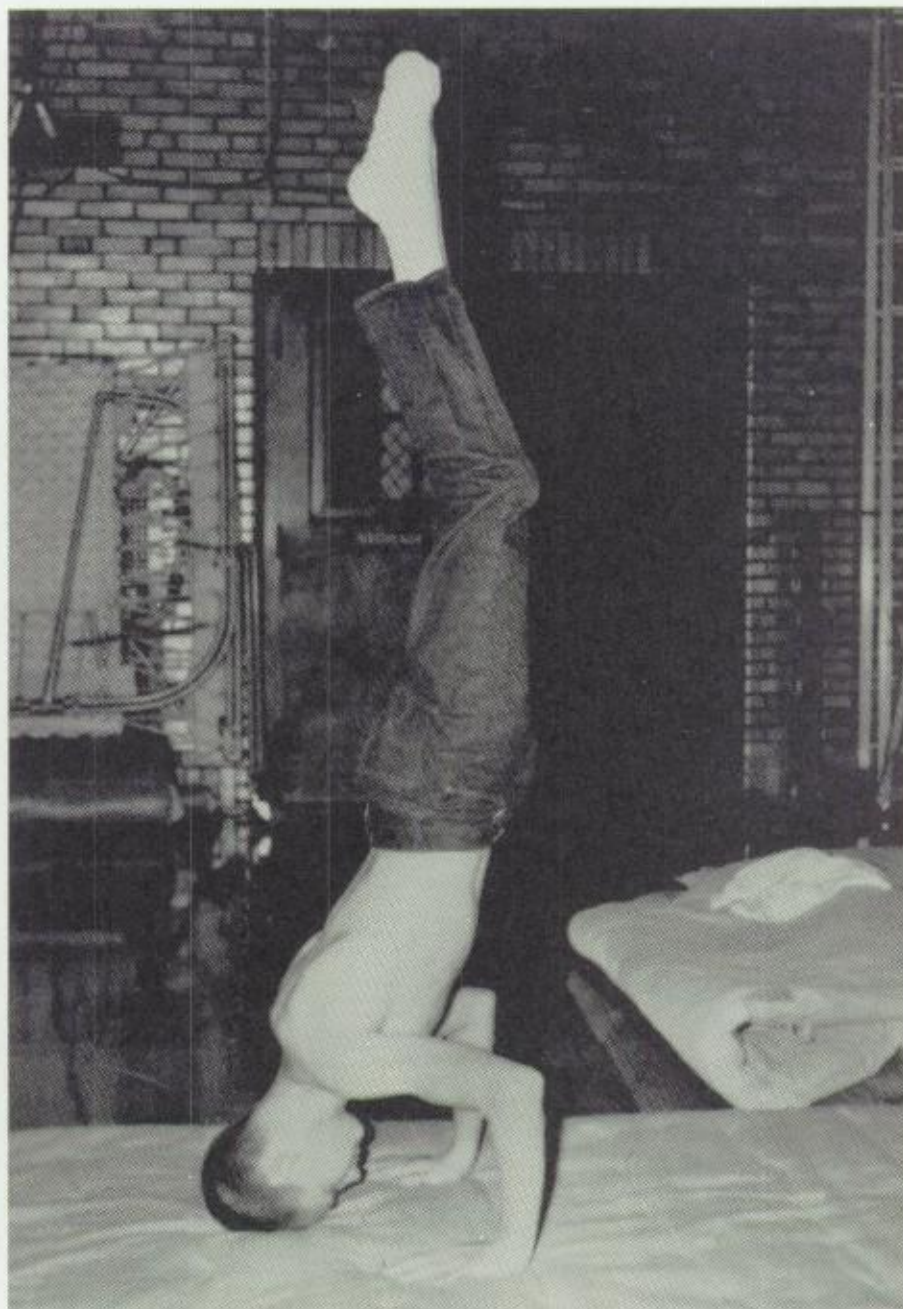

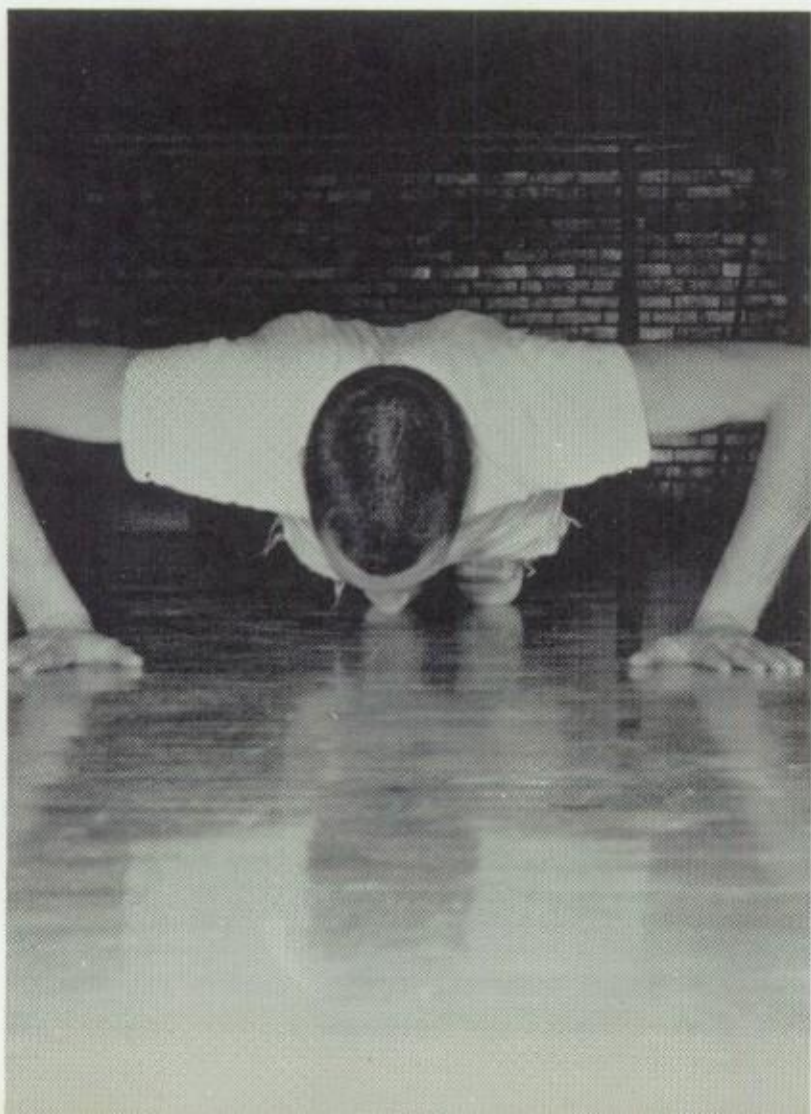

During the fall, drills in touch football allow the boys to be outside during gym class.

Boys' phys. ed. classes strive for fitness

Gymnastics develop physical skills and co-ordination.

The physical fitness program includes doing pushups, rope climbs, situps, and the step test.

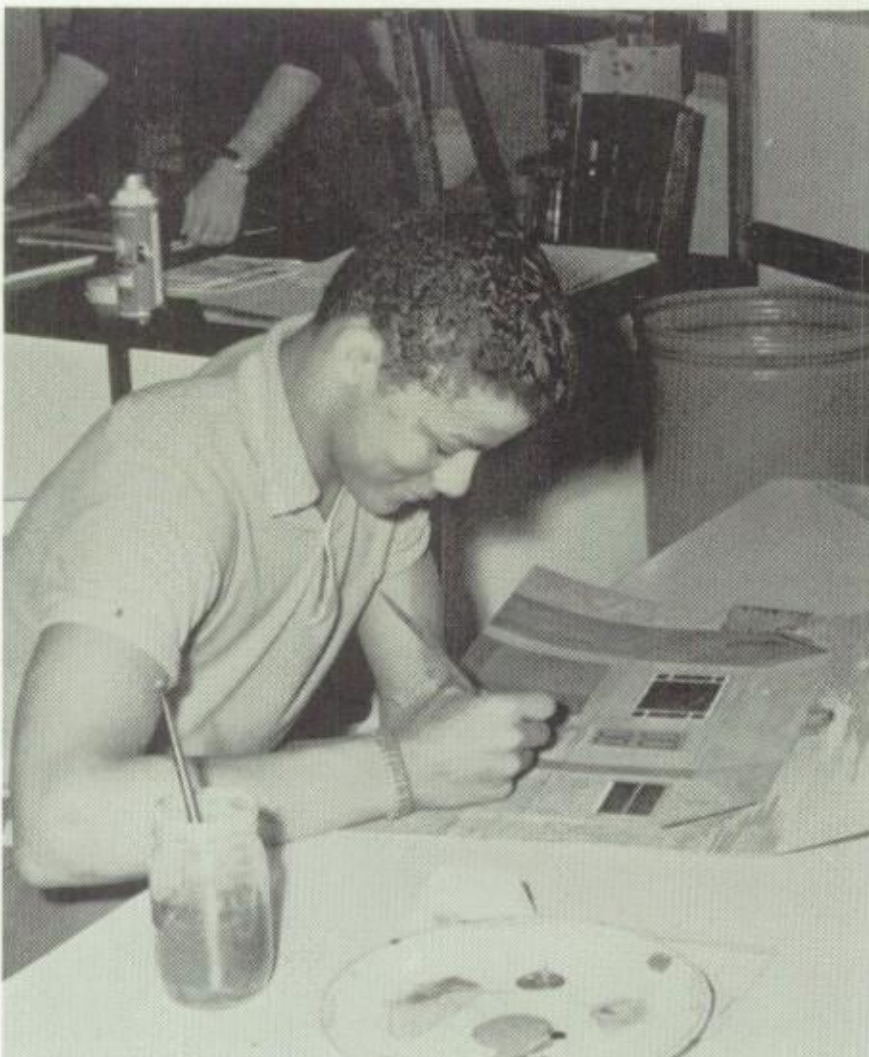

Sketching, painting test creativity

During the spring and fall, Mr. Frederick's art classes go outside to do charcoal sketches.

Working diligently, Julian Spencer paints in art class.

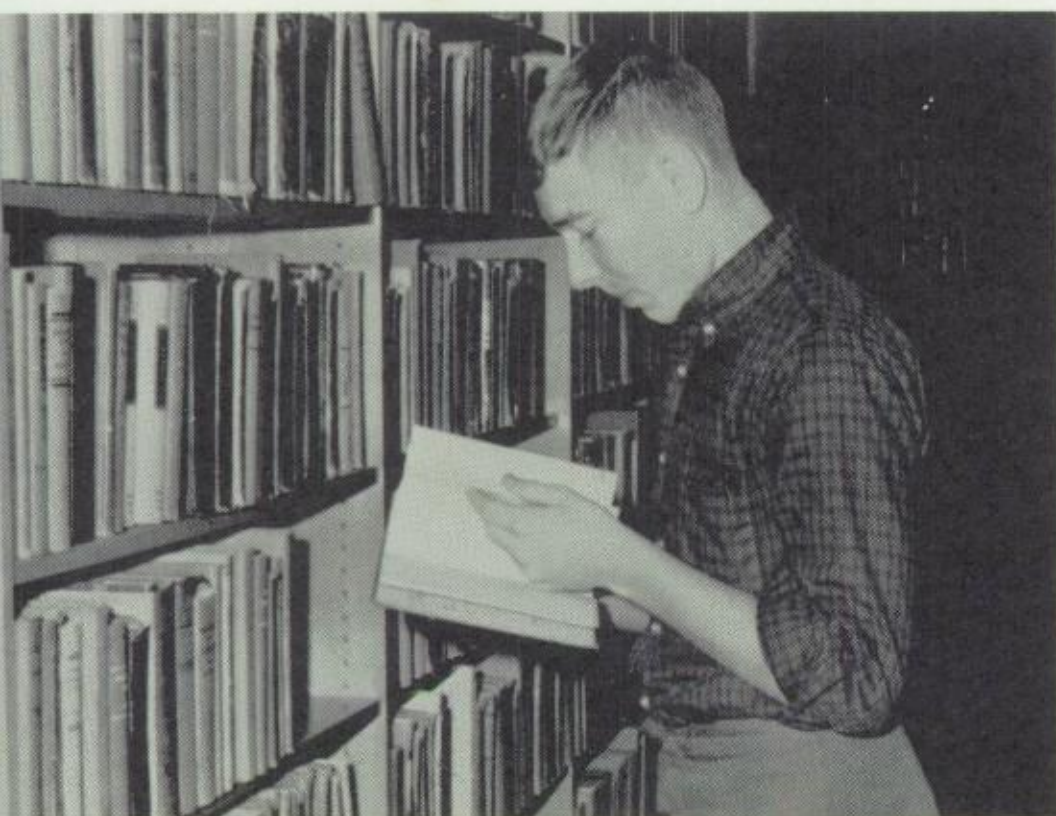

In the first year of art, skills in the use of a variety of media and subjects are developed and a creative, individual approach to problems is stimulated. Goals of second year art remain the same as in first year with greater emphasis being given to individual projects and gaining experience with a wider variety of media.

Works of leading artists from the last half of the 18th century to the present are studied. Among the studio projects included during the year are figure drawing, still life, sculpture, outside sketching, design, painting, lettering, and ceramics.

Gary Kutzner sculptures a figure in clay.

Students use library for study, research

Librarians Miss Anna Kelly and Miss Betty Harrison keep the facilities up to date with the help of four student assistants.

The high school and community college library affords an opportunity to the students to have access to the publications needed for their varied interests. The library receives 60 periodicals, several pamphlets, and state and national newspapers. The library is open 40 hours a week.

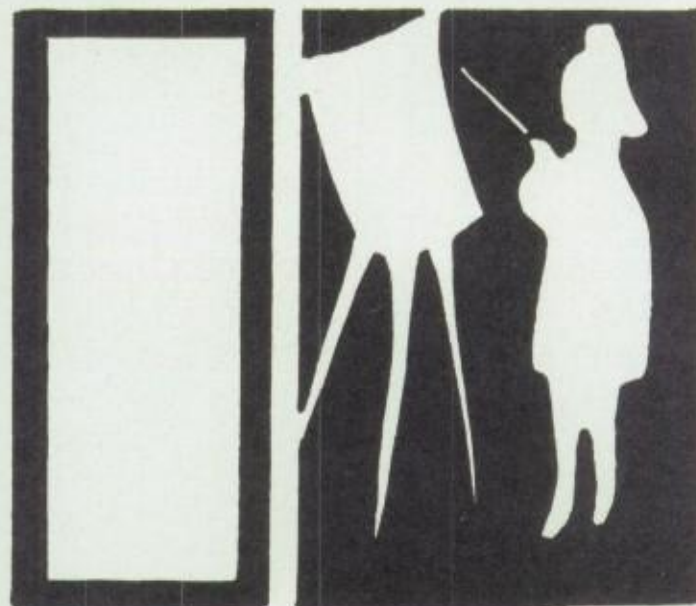

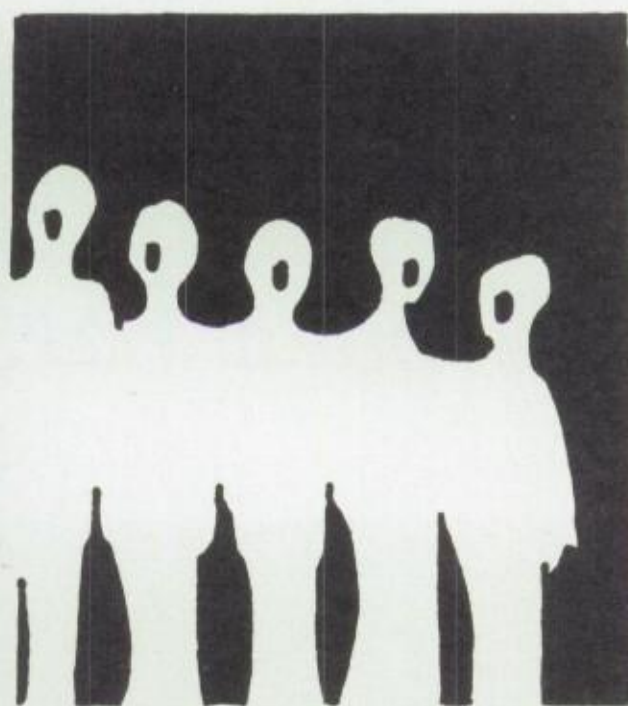

Three hundred and sixty new books have been added to the library this year. The money to purchase the books was given by friends and relatives in memory of Allen Brockett after he was killed in an auto accident in the winter of 1961.

Chris Norris finds that the card catalog is a valuable asset in the library.

Plays, projects backed by Masque & Dagger

Vice President Marilyn MacCanon presides at the monthly meeting of Masque & Dagger. To become an active member of the club five outside points are required and one must sell three season tickets to the plays. Due to the fact that there are six first year and two second year speech classes, there are seventy members this year. These five outside points can be gained by participating in any of the three plays sponsored by Masque & Dagger.

Other officers are: President, Rich Holm; Secretary, Gay Gantt; Treasurer, Herb Flower; and Historian, Etta McGrane. The sponsor of Masque & Dagger is Mrs. Carol Dodd.

"Now we will serve sake, Mrs. Jacoby. (Ayako Asano fills their cups.) Rice wine. It is served hot and you will find it excellent against the inclement weather," says Mr. Asano.

"A Majority of One" was presented on November 15 and 16 as the first play given by the speech classes. The Japanese set and costumes added much to the effect of this play.

The three-act play concerns a middle-aged Jewish woman who falls in love with a Japanese man. When the question of marriage comes up her daughter and son-in-law have much to say about this. Complications arise and Mrs. Jacoby sails home without a husband.

"Here you are, darling." Jerry Black places his wife's stole about her shoulders in a scene on the deck of the ship.

"What other miracles do you have deep in that bag, Mrs. Jacoby?" questions Mr. Asano.

"Oh, but we are hep-cats for American music," we learn from Eddie, the Blacks' houseboy.

"Oh, here's something that'll interest you folks. There was a theatrical troupe on board. American. I guess I felt a little sentimental about them on account of you people," said Gil, the emerald King.

"Get out! Get out! Get out! Go on in there and argue." Julie is telling Kitty and Herbert Dean that if they want to argue go into the library.

"Look! I'll show you," said Tony. Here Tony is showing members of the family plans which turn out to be a modern version of the Passion Play.

"The Royal Family" was presented on January 30 by Masque and Dagger as their extra play of the year. Since the play was an extra one, most of the work was done by second-year speech students.

The three-act play was about a large family of actors and actresses and the problems they ran into being in the business. The play was based on the lives of the Barrymores, a famous family in show business. Four generations of the family were presented in this play.

"Do you suppose I could have stood these two years, hobbling around with this cane," said Fanny. Here Fanny Cavendish is telling her niece, Gwen, how important the stage is.

"To the future greatest actor of his day! Aubrey Cavendish Second!" The family is giving a toast to the latest arrival in the Cavendish family.

Second-year speech students are directing the one acts with first-year students being required to participate in at least one one-act play.

The plays are rehearsed and performed for a grade before Mrs. Dodd and the best of these are given in March.

The directors must take turns rehearsing in various parts of the auditorium.

Beginners gain experience from one-acts

Jim Niemants is directing his cast in the back of the auditorium.

Mrs. Dodd, in charge of the directors of the one-acts, was honored at the Teachers-Clergy-Industrial Banquet as teacher of the year.

Pep skits feature comedy, satire, originality

The pep skit for the Newton game took on the cowboy theme. Here a group of sharpshooters prepare for a raid from the Newton Cardinals.

In the homecoming assembly separate skits were given that followed the theme. Here a carload of teens are returning from Veishea and are planning the first homecoming parade.

The Grinnell basketball pep assembly took place in Rome, where a Bobcat and Tiger fight takes place. The Bobcat won the fight!

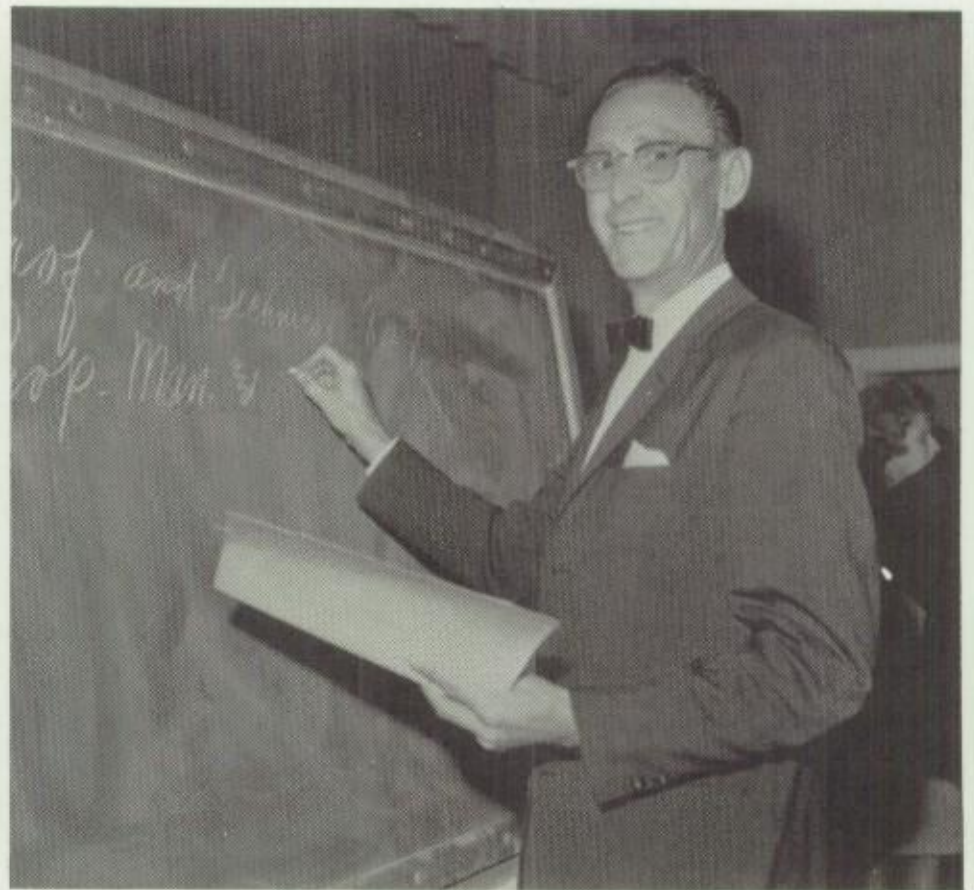

Two Grinnell cheerleaders are trying to get a detective to spy on the Bobcat football team. They succeed and the spy is discovered.

Assemblies present variety of views on life

John Collison, MHS class of 1934, returned to the school stage for the first time in 29 years for an assembly. Although not a professional actor he is widely acclaimed for his portrayal of Abe Lincoln.

"People are not born to fit into niches," explained Dr. Wray D. Silvey, professor of education at State College of Iowa, as he spoke on "Choice of Occupation" at the annual guidance assembly.

George Toporcer, former baseball player who is now blind, spoke to the student body. He spoke of his experiences playing ball and his fight against blindness. Mr. Toporcer insisted that the most valuable thing he had learned from his experience was that it is necessary for everyone to have an objective in life.

The Vocal-Aires, a trio of singers, performed in an assembly. The group, directed by Roy Lockett, also included Barbara Simms and Jean Herron. The Aires received a standing ovation for their performance.

President of Cornell College, Dr. Arnold Crist-Janer, talked at the scholarship assembly. He advised each student to stop now and then to reflect and mirror his activities and experiences through the years to see just what he has been doing and how this will affect his future. He ended his talk with the timely phrase — "Through asperity to the stars."

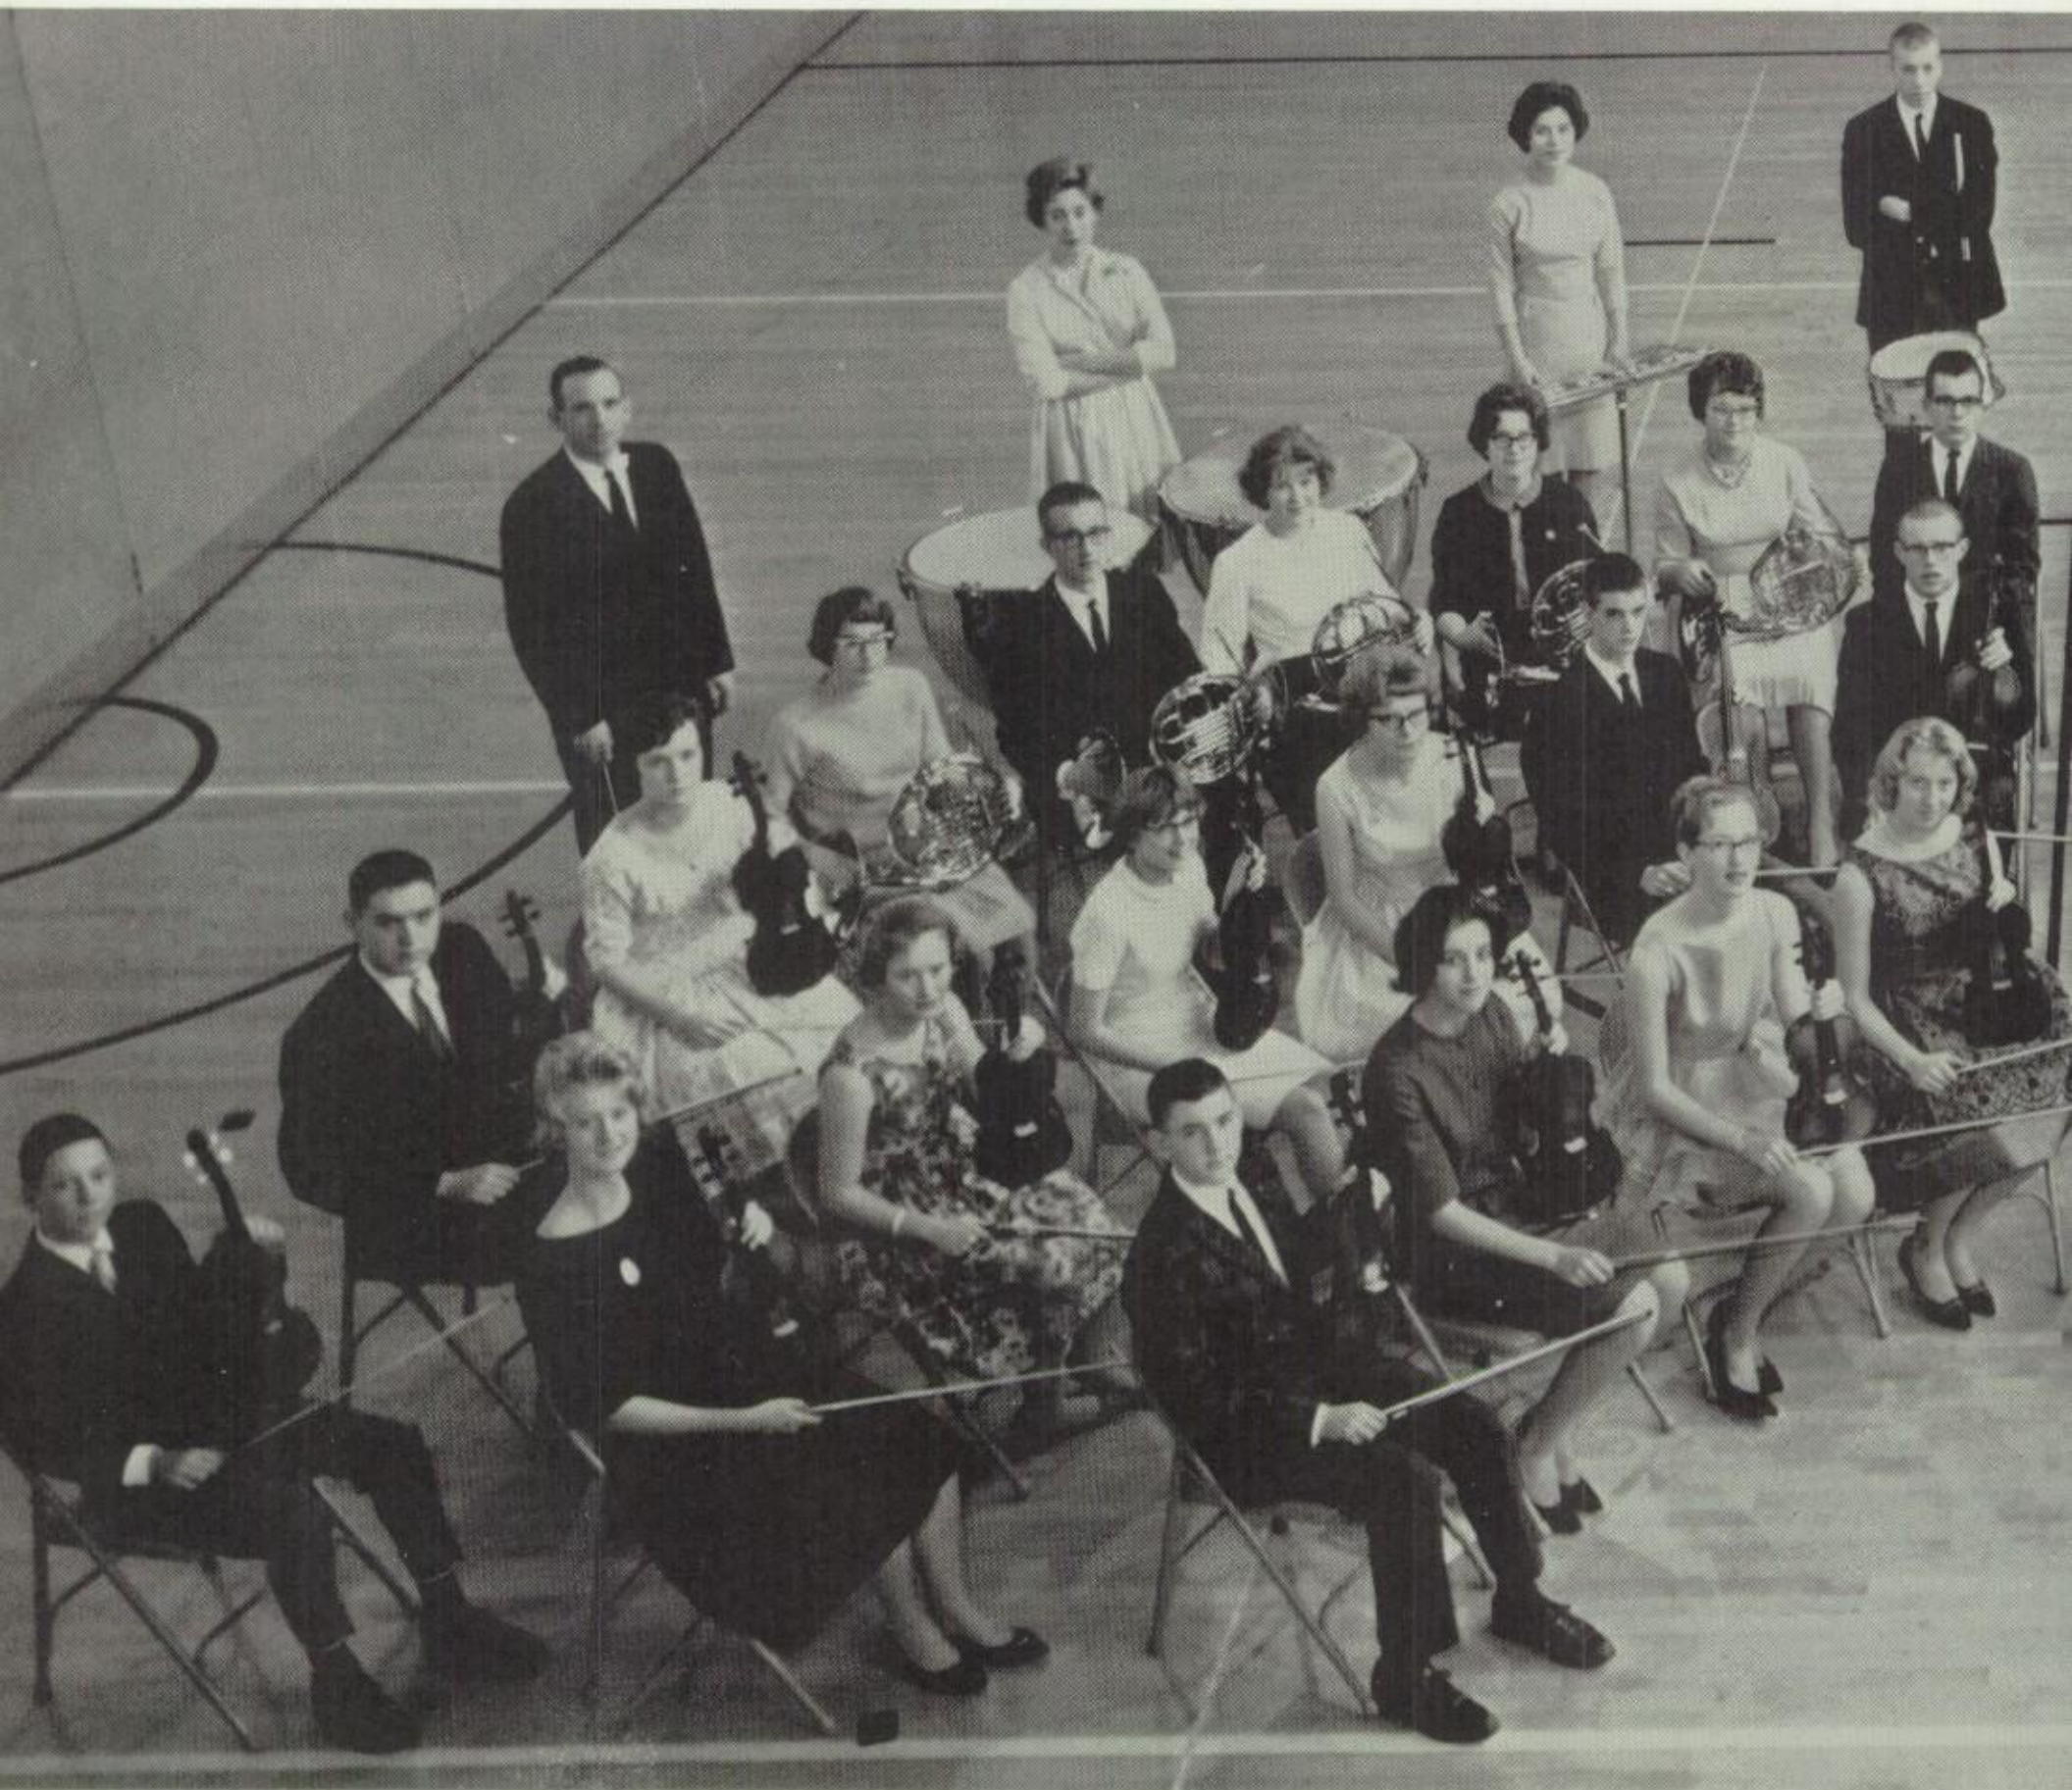

Mr. John M. Wallace talked to the science classes in a special assembly. During his talk he used a greatly magnified model of an atom, a screen which demonstrated the splitting of an atom, and a model nuclear reactor.

Mr. Oscar Gren, originally from Sweden and now a citizen of the United States, spoke to students on what it means to become a citizen. He explained that while living here he has worked his way up from dishwasher, to writer, to his present job in real estate.

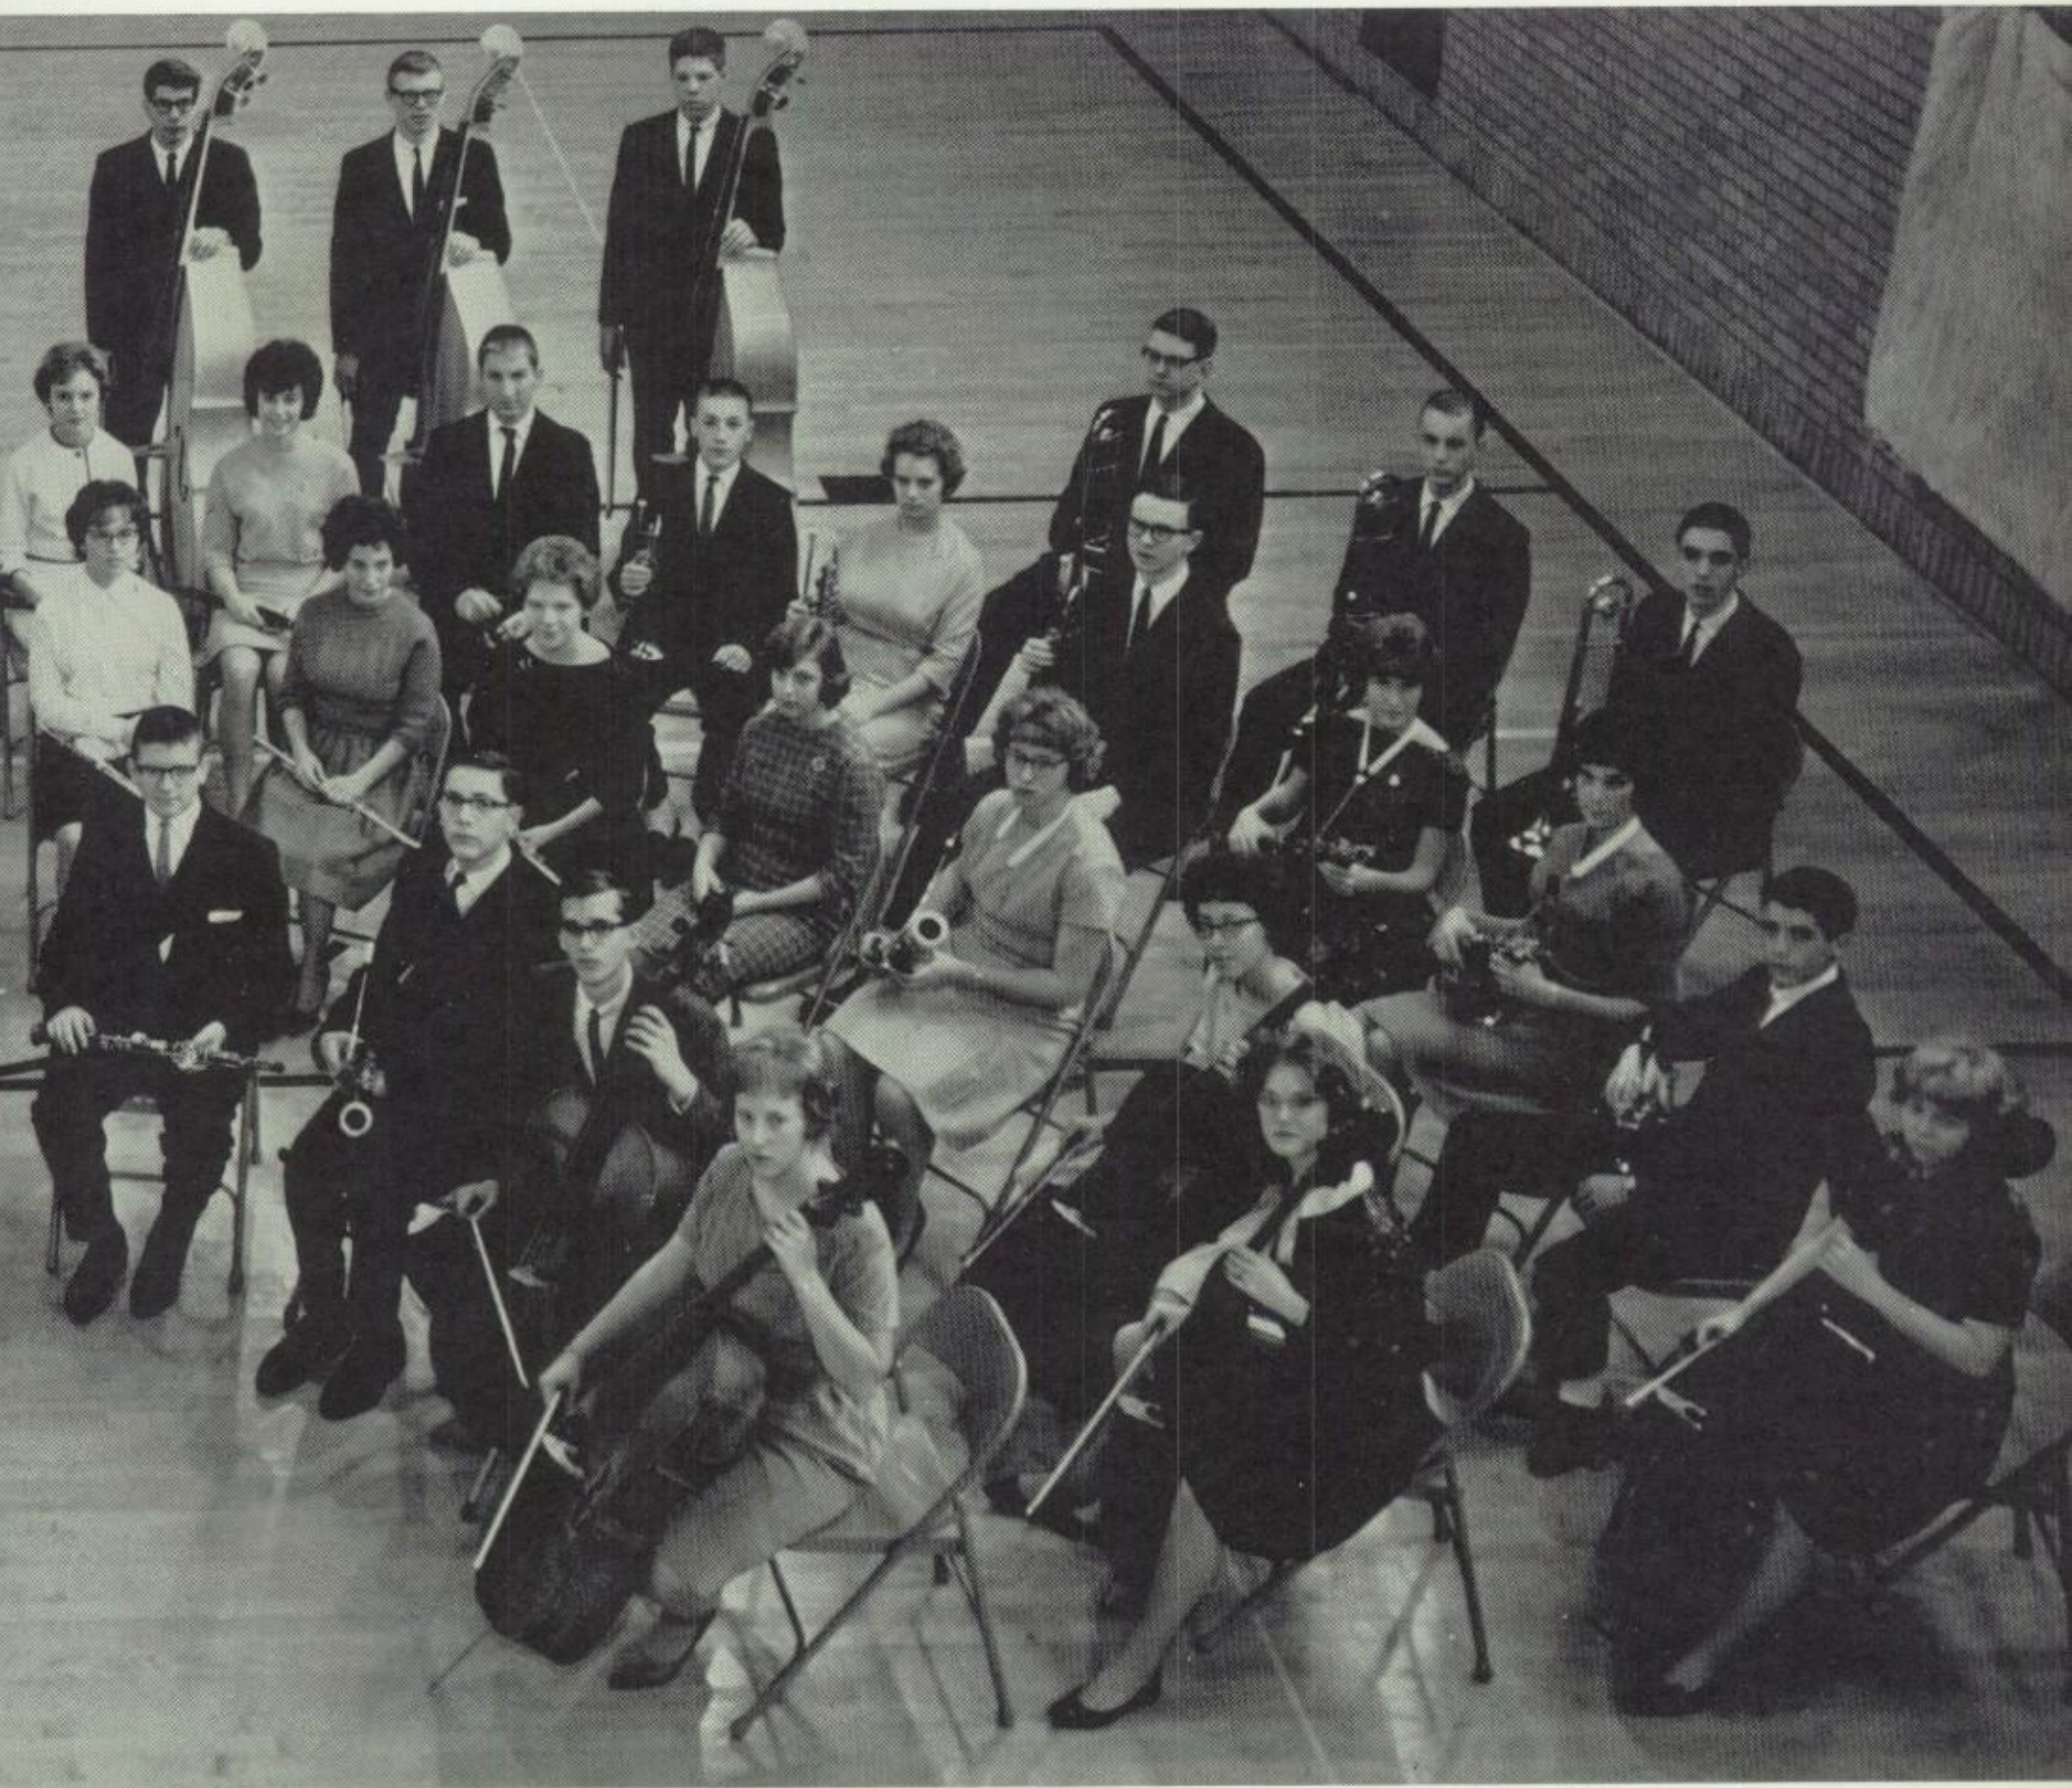

Johnny Boyd, veteran Indianapolis Motor Speedway driver, spoke at a safety assembly. Mr. Boyd is one of a team of eight Indianapolis race drivers who tour the country and present the award-winning program. His subject was "Highway Safety Is No Accident."

Athletics

Marshalltown Bobcats have won many times, and even lost a few! This year, as always, their sportsmanship was known as being among the best. Boys play here with hopes to further Marshalltown's fame and hopes that those who step in next year will be proud to don a uniform with "BOBCATS" printed across it. Look back now at the sporting events of 1963.

The Bobcat baseball team, led by many underclassmen, finished in a tie with Boone for second place in the CIC conference besides winning the District Tournament. They defeated Ames, Newton, and Grinnell once; beat Oskaloosa twice; and squeaked by Boone. In the Sectional Tournament the 'Cats rolled over Beaman-Conrad 10-0 behind pitcher Steve Sweeney's no-hitter. They easily defeated Traer-Clutier 6-1, and then smashed Dysart 14-6. In district play they played two real tough ball games, beating Dunkerton and Manchester 4-2, 4-3. Steamboat Rock then knocked the 'Cats out of the running by nipping them 4-3 in the first round of the sub-state play.

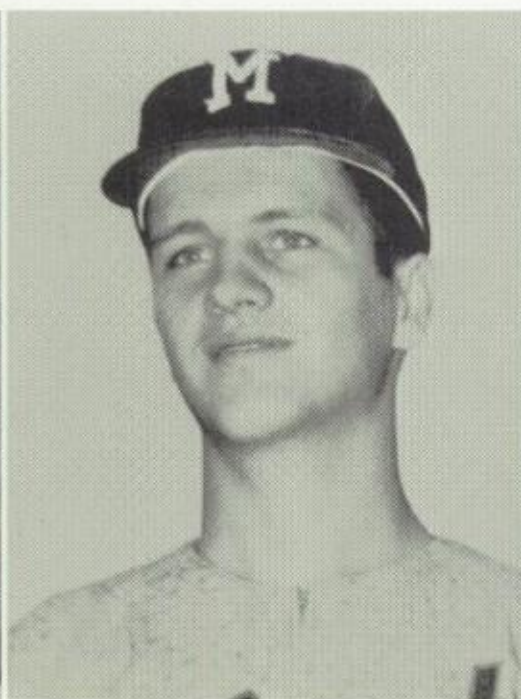

Being a green team when the season began, the Bobcats improved very rapidly and during the tournament stretch they looked as though they might go all the way.

With a lot of top-notch talent back again this year, the Bobcat Harriers ended up with only one defeat out of nine dual meets. The defeat was the first in three years for the varsity runners, and it came at the hands of State Champion Des Moines Tech.

Victories included two over all the conference teams plus winning the conference and State Class AA mile run. The Cats also competed in the Mike Augustine meet, in which top teams such as Sioux City and Valley of Des Moines participated. Two triangular meets were run with Beaman-Conrad and Green Mountain, the Bobcats winning both meets.

Steve Brintnall was the outstanding man on the squad. He, along with Gary Jordan, Steve Sholes, Rich Hayes, and Ron Ficus made up the bulk of the team. In the Roosevelt meet they completely dominated things by winning five out of the top six spots.

The varsity was not the only team to have a victorious season. The reserves and Sophomores went all the way without a loss.

Ron Fiscus leads the pack during the CIC conference mile run. Ron, a junior, eventually fell off his pace and took fourth in the meet.

Steve Brintnall breaks across the finish line to win the CIC conference mile run and give Marshalltown a team victory in the meet.

The Bobcats took the top four spots in the Roosevelt meet. Gary Jordan sets the pace as teammates Steve Britnall, Steve Sholes, and Rich Hayes follow during the second lap of the race. Steve Brintnall won the event.

Gridders improve as season progresses

John Snyder streaks downfield trying to elude a Newton defender, and take in a long pass for paydirt.

The team gets last minute instructions from the coach before going out on the field.

The 'Cat gridders, though looking tougher each game, couldn't seem to get rid of the small mistakes and suffered a 1-8 season. They lost five straight ball games before breaking the ice by beating Tama-Toledo 21-7. In the remaining two games the Bobcats lost to Ames 32-6, and then played a rough Grinnell team to a standstill in the first half before succumbing in the third quarter and losing 23-0.

The fate of this Tama back is certain with Jim Maxfield right on his tail and John Snyder moving in.

Rugged competition keeps 'Cats hustling

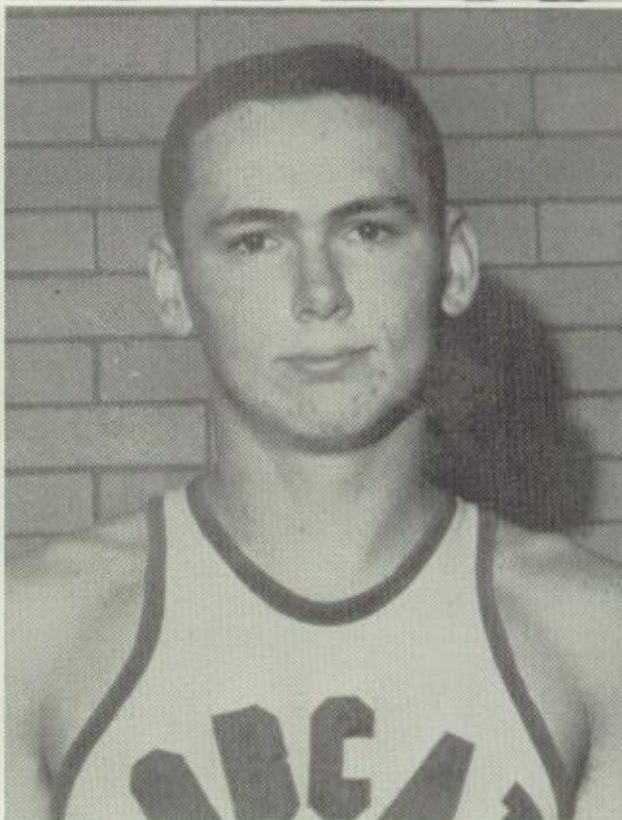

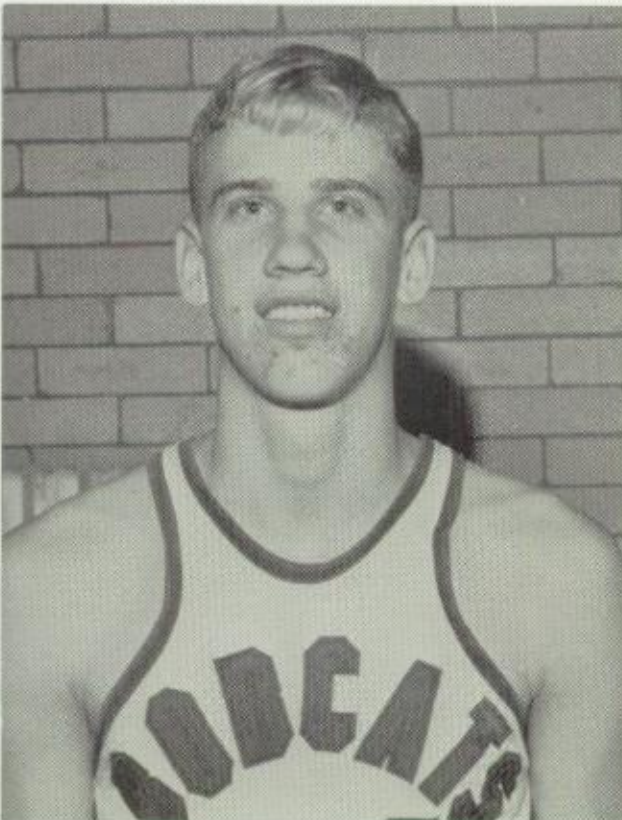

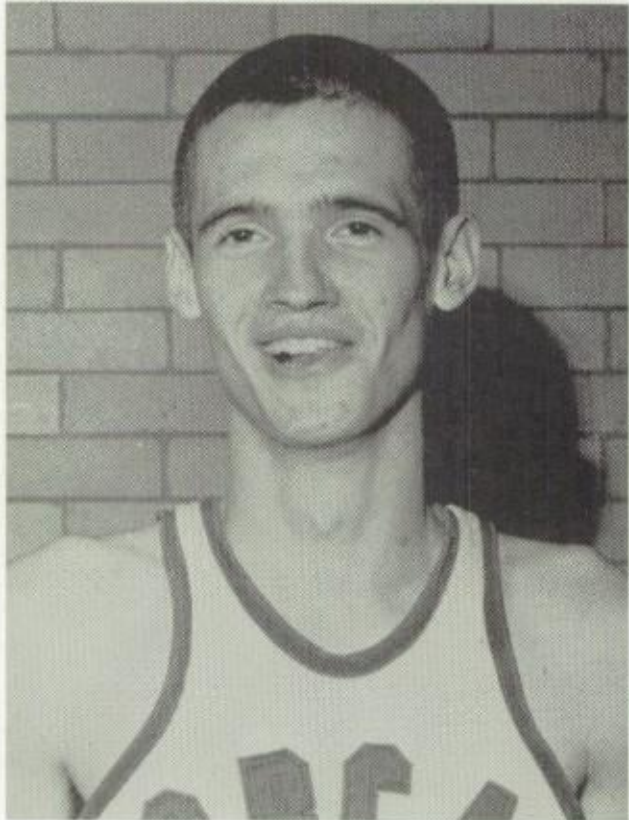

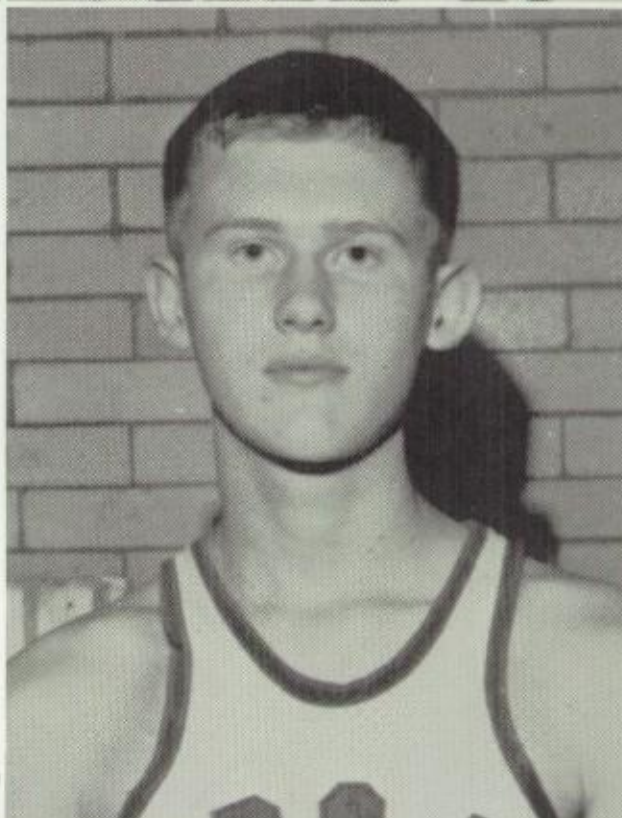

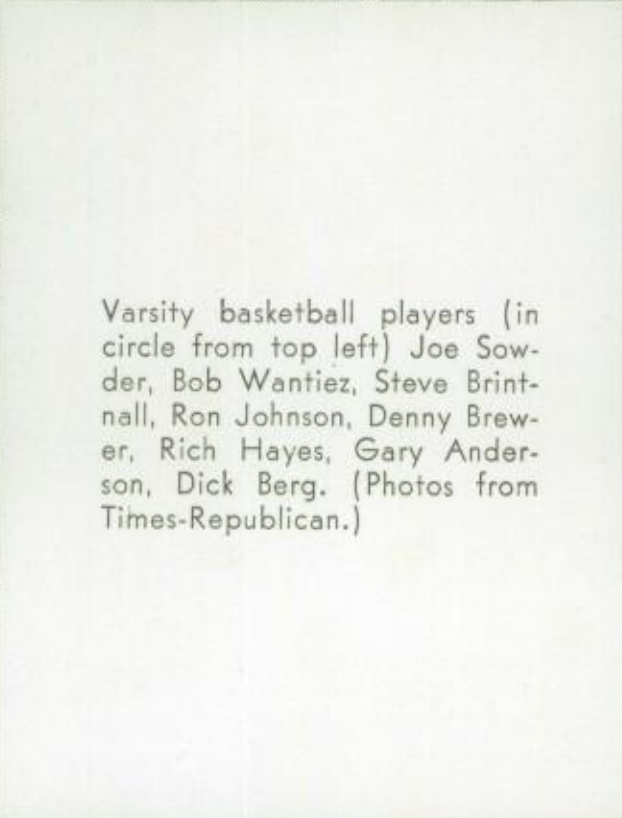

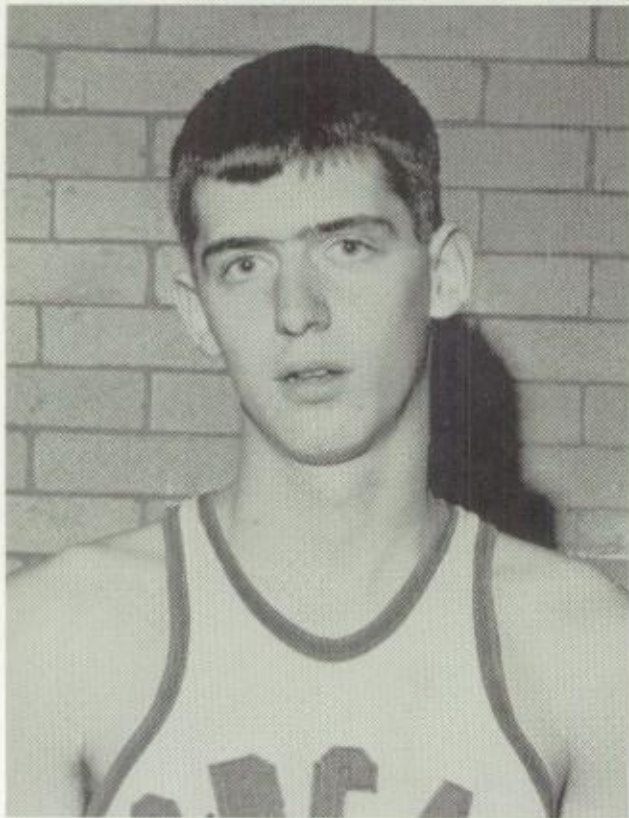

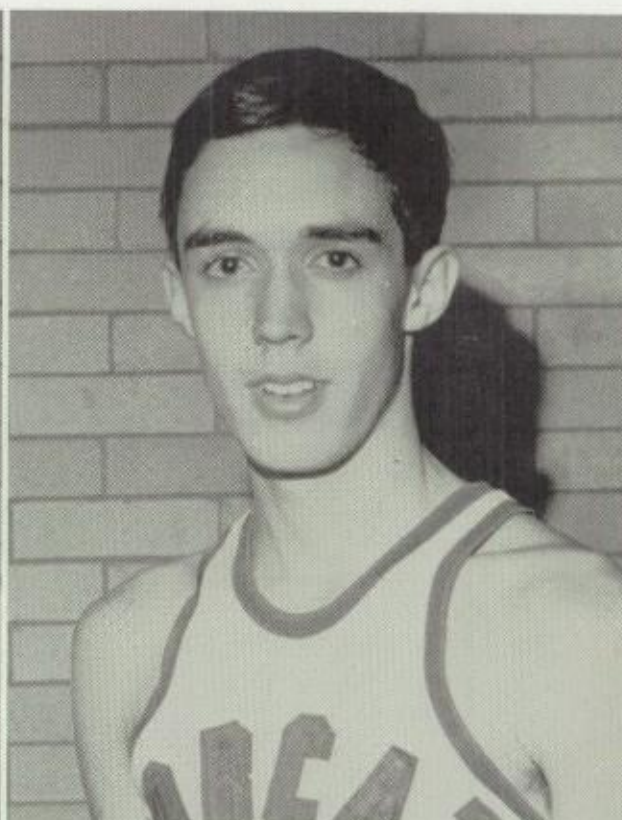

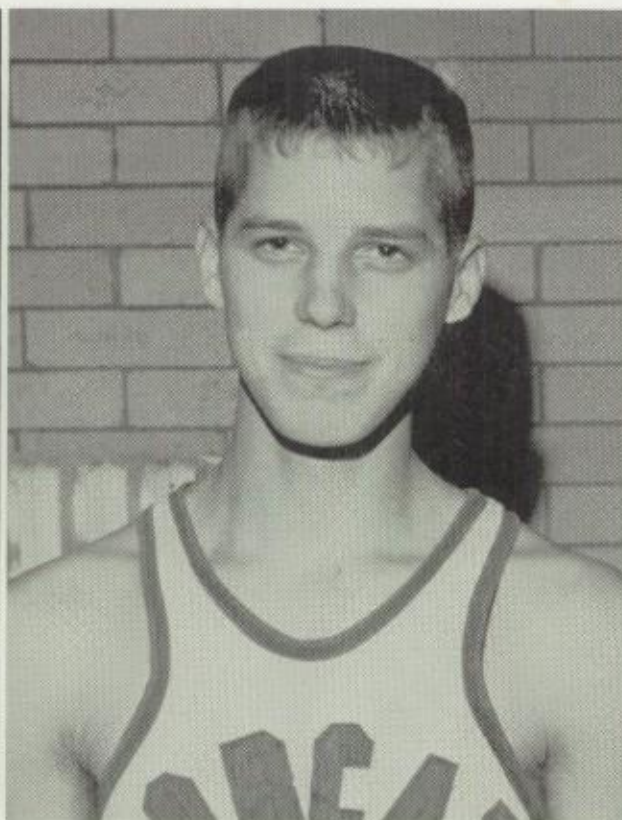

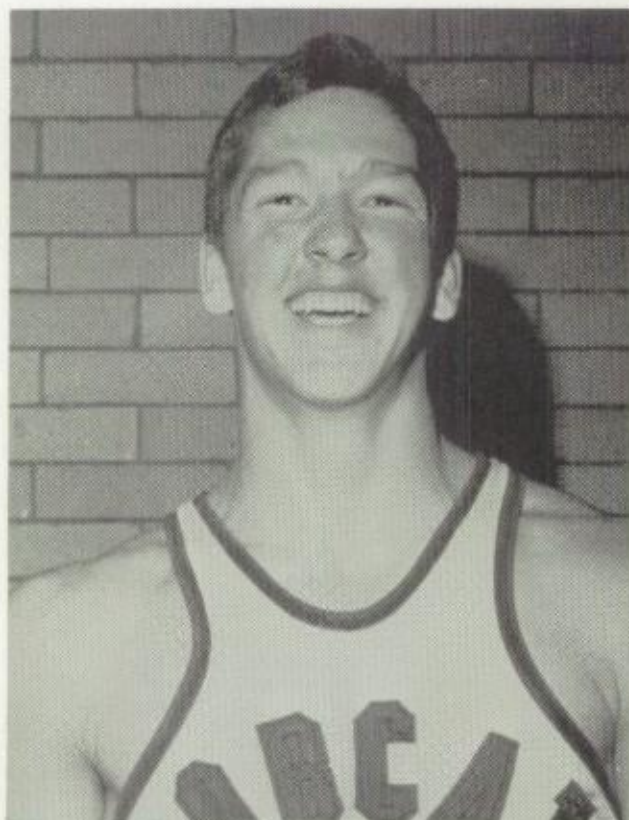

Varsity Coach—Ev Cochrane

Even though the cagers played tough teams like Mason City and Newton, they still ended up with a respectable record. Down 17 points at halftime in the Mason City game, the 'Cats came back to within two points by the end of the third quarter before losing by four points. With good floor play and rebounding the 'Cats turned into a threat as the season progressed. Throughout the season the cagers seemed to be more of a second half team. In many games they rallied from far behind to tie the game or take the lead by the middle of the fourth quarter.

Rebounding improves as season progresses

Driving through a host of Boone players, Bob Wantiez goes for a lay-up.

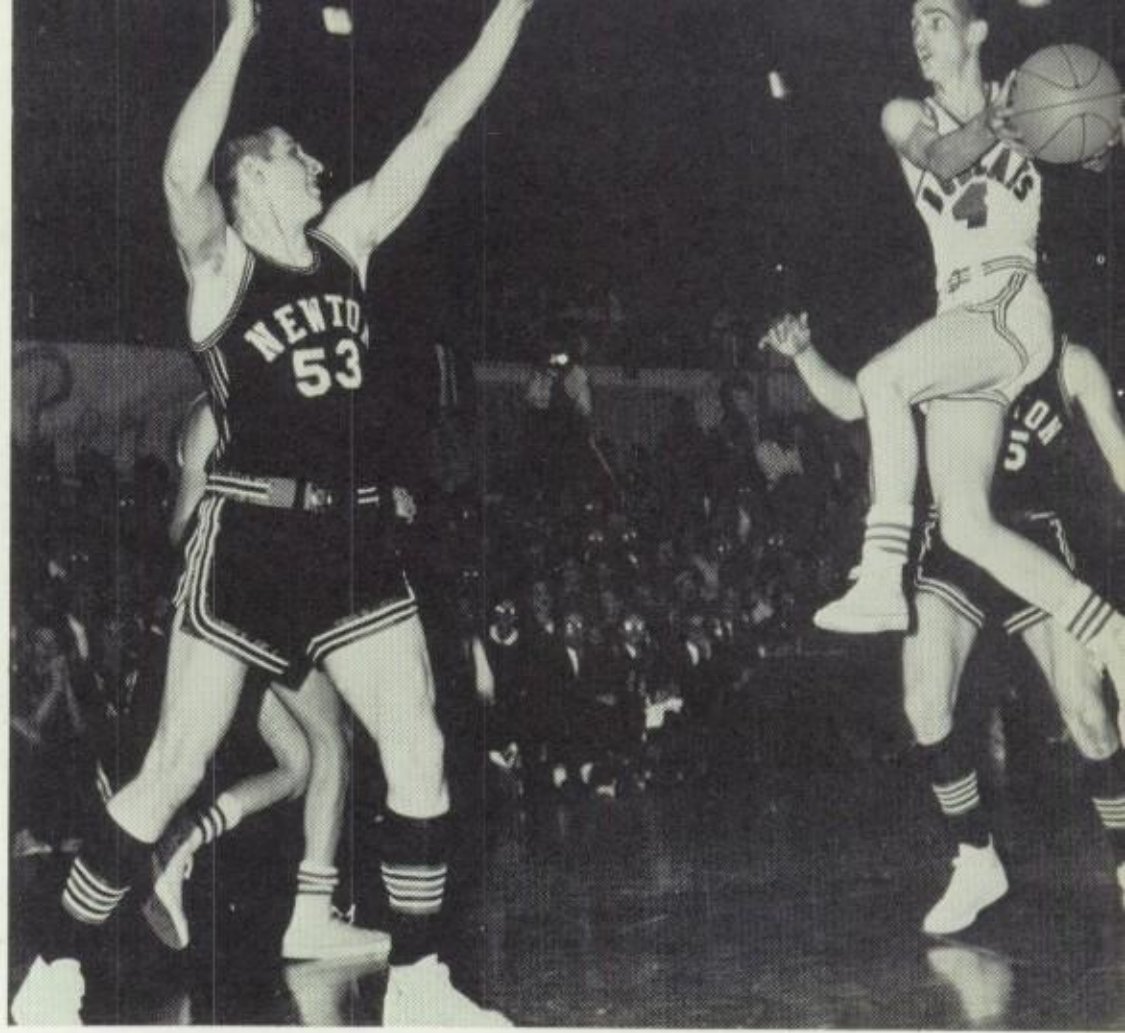

Rich Hayes goes high in the air for a shot during the Newton game.

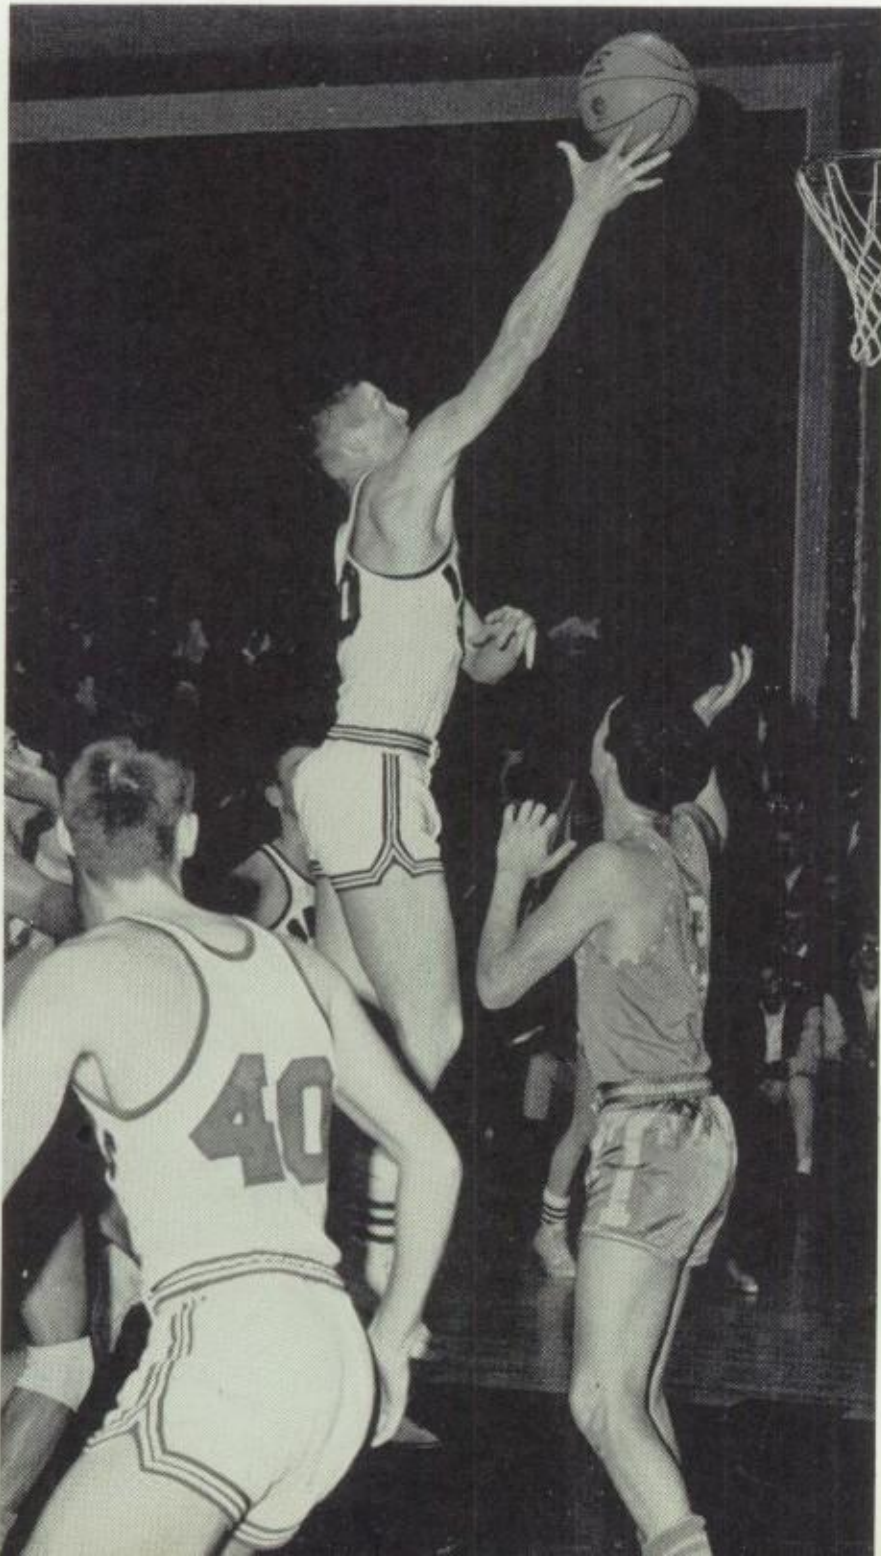

The team takes time out to get instructions from Ev.

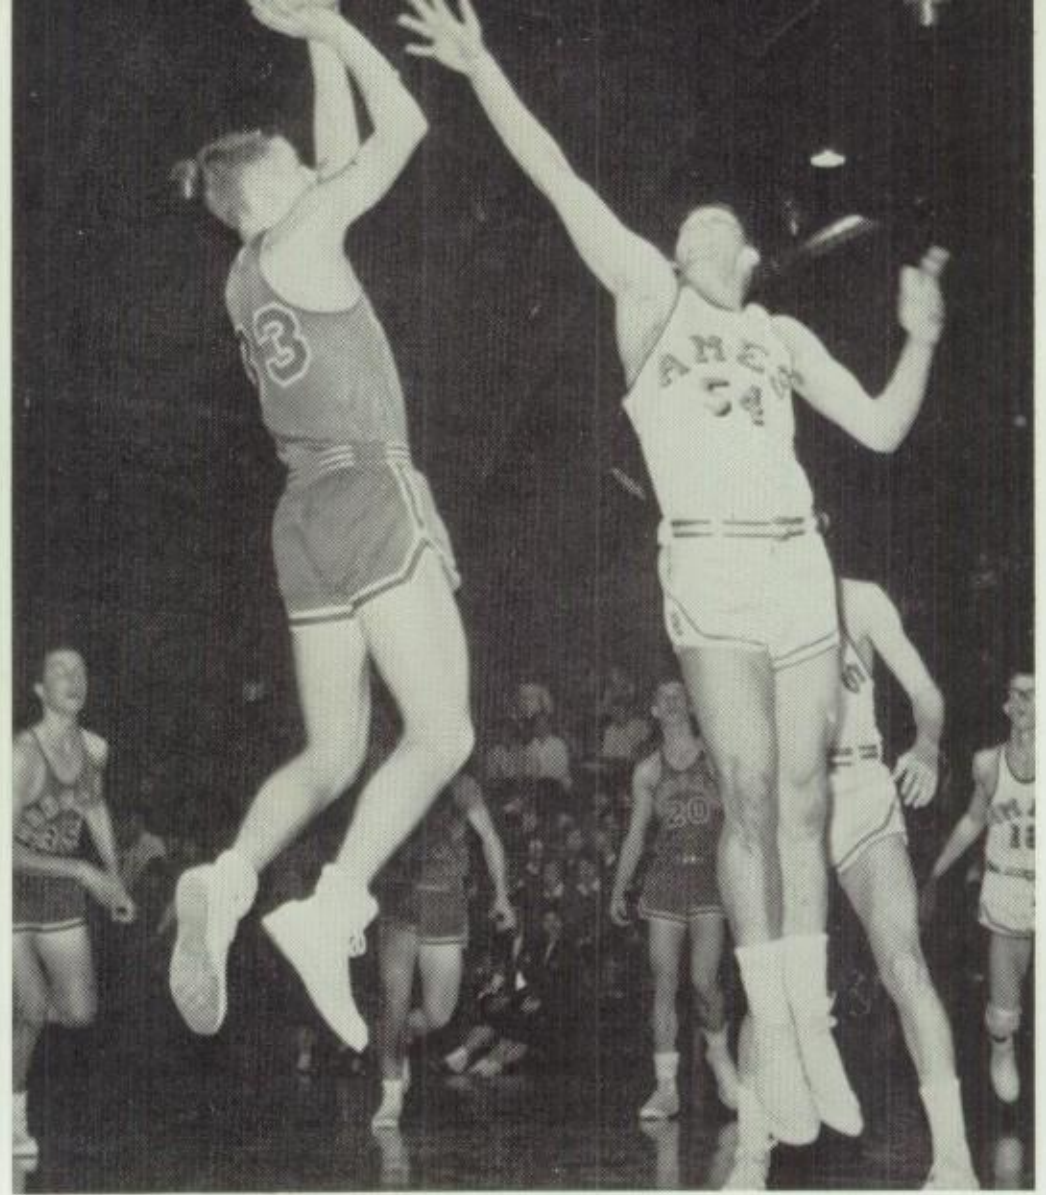

A Newton player guards Gary Anderson as he tries for a lay-up.

Joe Sowder puts the ball in for two more points against the Engineers from Tech.

Another rebound is taken away from the Regis Royals by Ron Johnson and Dale Dickkut.

Denny Brewer and Ron Johnson move in for a possible rebound in the Oskaloosa-Bobcat roundball contest.

Winning four out of their first five meets, the Bobcat swim team beat Des Moines North, Des Moines Tech, Cedar Falls, and Boone. The tankers then went into a slump and finished the season with a 6-7 record. Dave Brainerd, considered by coach Al Fienup to be the best all around swimmer, qualified for the state meet in the butterfly, but did not place. Other outstanding swimmers included breaststroker Martin Wilson, backstrokers Jim Niemants, Jon Kinney, and Ron Anderson.

Diver Ken Patterson goes high in the air with a back dive.

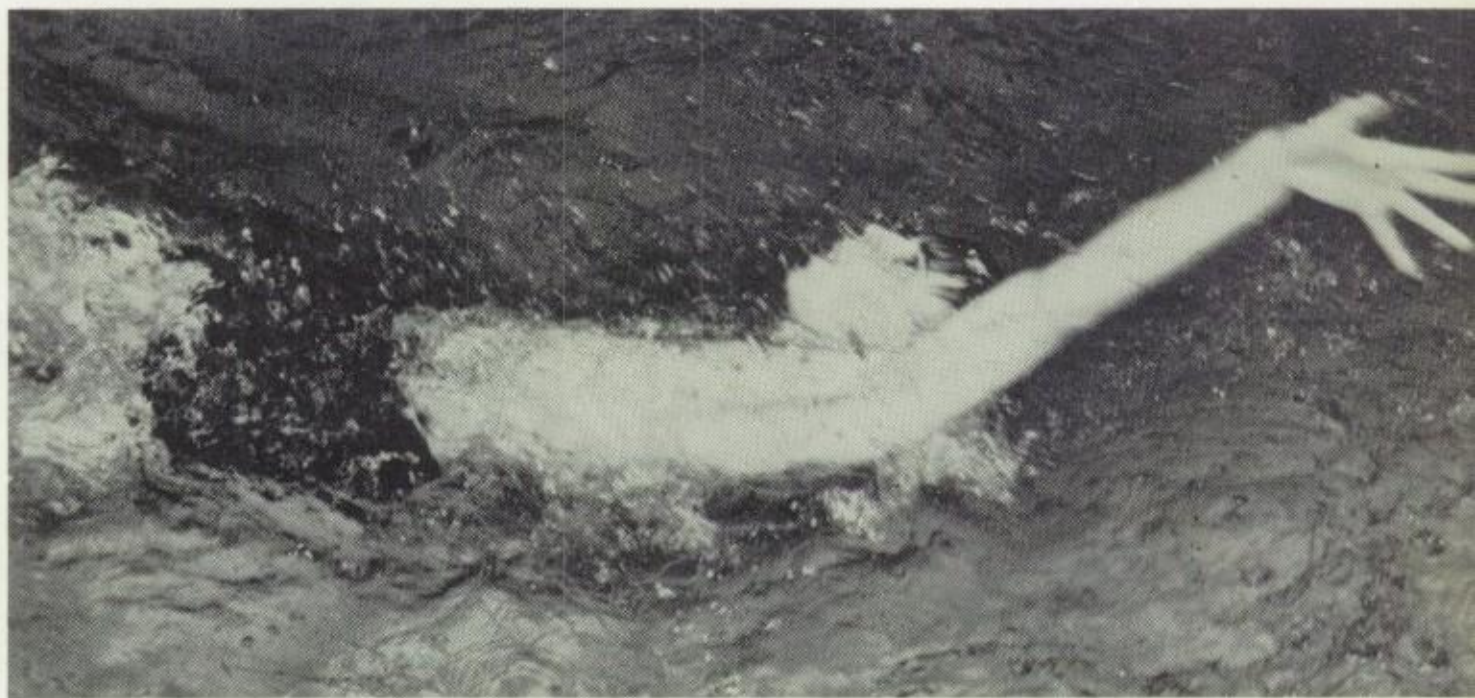

Dick Cope, lane 1, and Clair Mason, lane 2, get set for the 200 yd. freestyle.

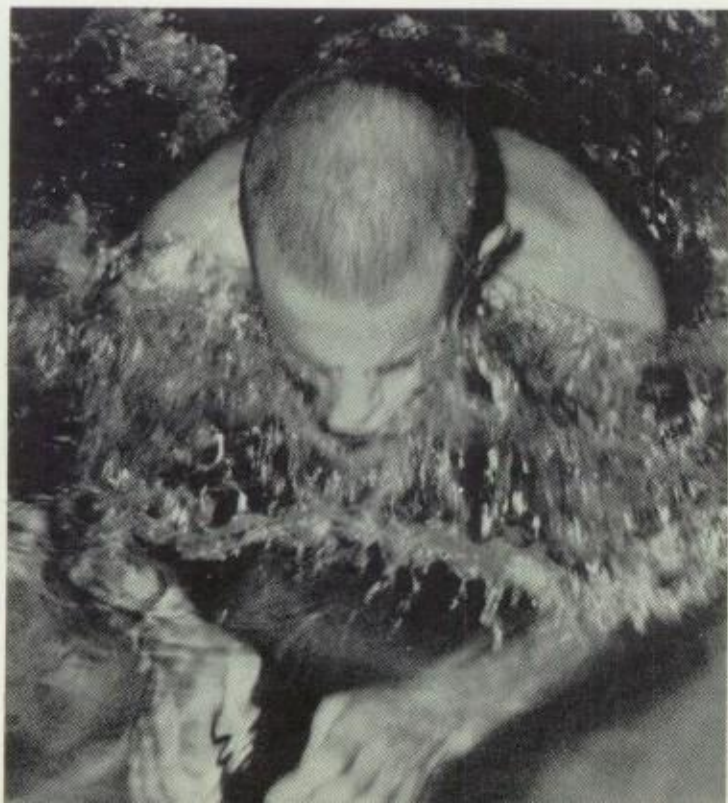

Composing the top relay team were tankers (left to right) Jon Kinney, Martin Wilson, Dave Brainerd, and Jerry Kinney. Jon Kinney began the relay with the backstroke, followed by Wilson swimming the breaststroke. Following the butterfly stroke by Brainerd was Jerry Kinney with the anchored freestyle.

Churning his way through the water is backstroker Ron Anderson. Ron also swam the 160-yard individual medley which consists of the backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly, and freestyle.

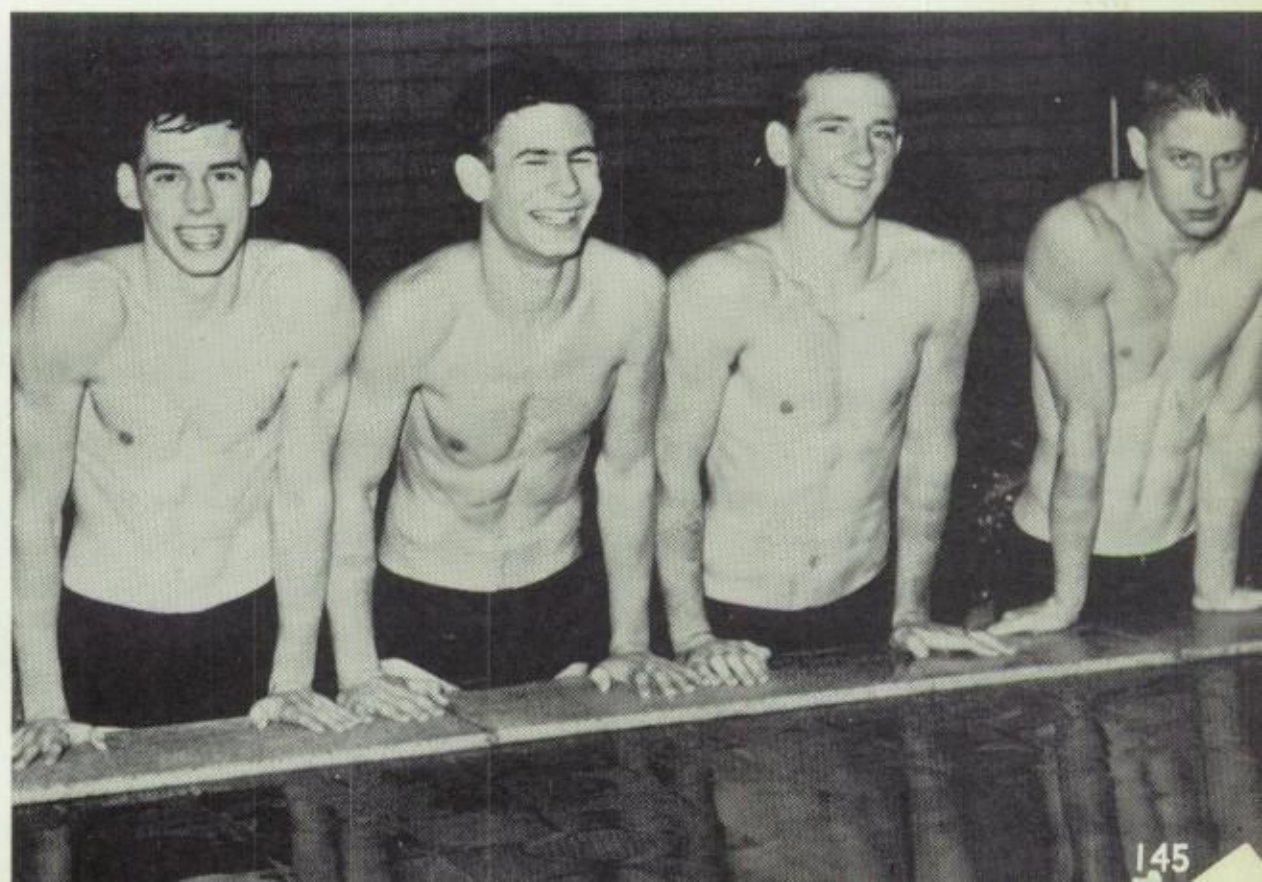

Tankers swim against state's best teams

Martin Wilson splashes his way to a Bobcat victory. A senior, Wilson was top breaststroker on the team.

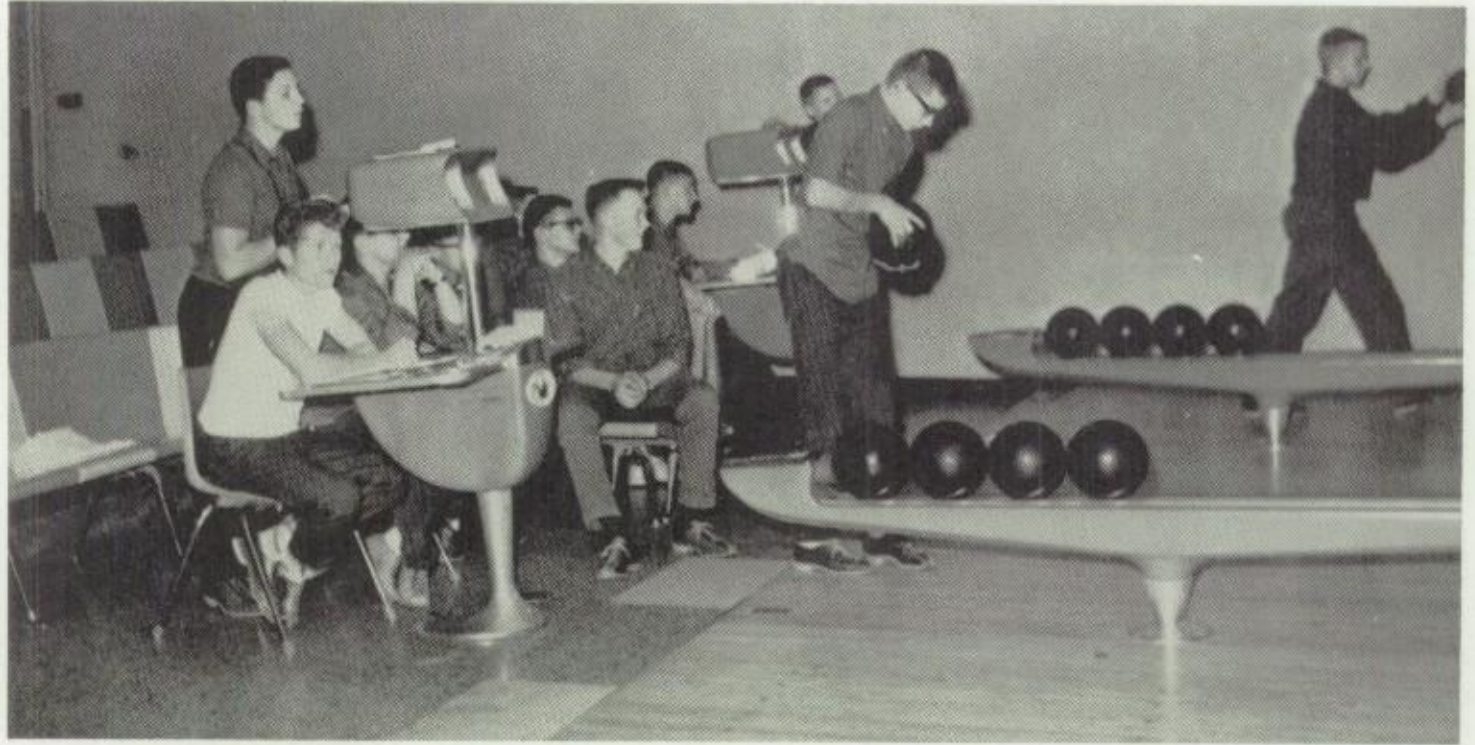

Four top swimmers on the Bobcat swim team this year were Ron Anderson, Bob McGregor, Jim Button, and Jim Chard. Anderson specialized in the backstroke and McGregor, Button, and Chard were freestylers.

Many students play intramural sports

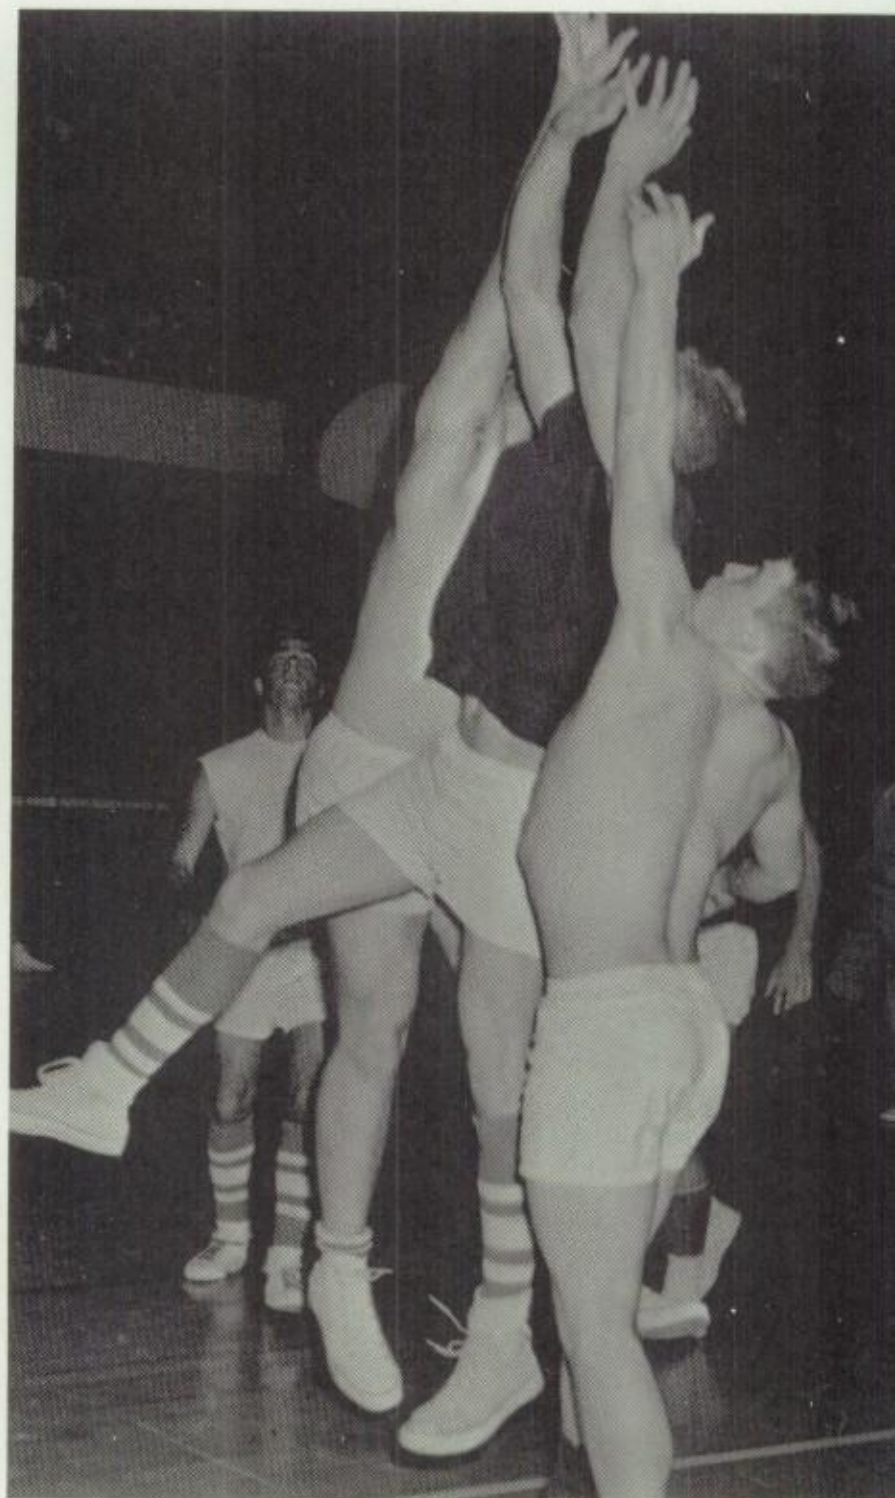

Many of the boys in intramural bowling take the game very seriously, and try to perfect all phases of it.

The Intramural Board of Control, headed by Al Fienup, discusses the running of the volleyball league.

It's all hands, as Max Van Pelt (foreground), John Harding (center), and Bob Hall go up for a rebound during a close game between two of the top teams.

Intramurals is controlled by a board of representatives elected by each homeroom.

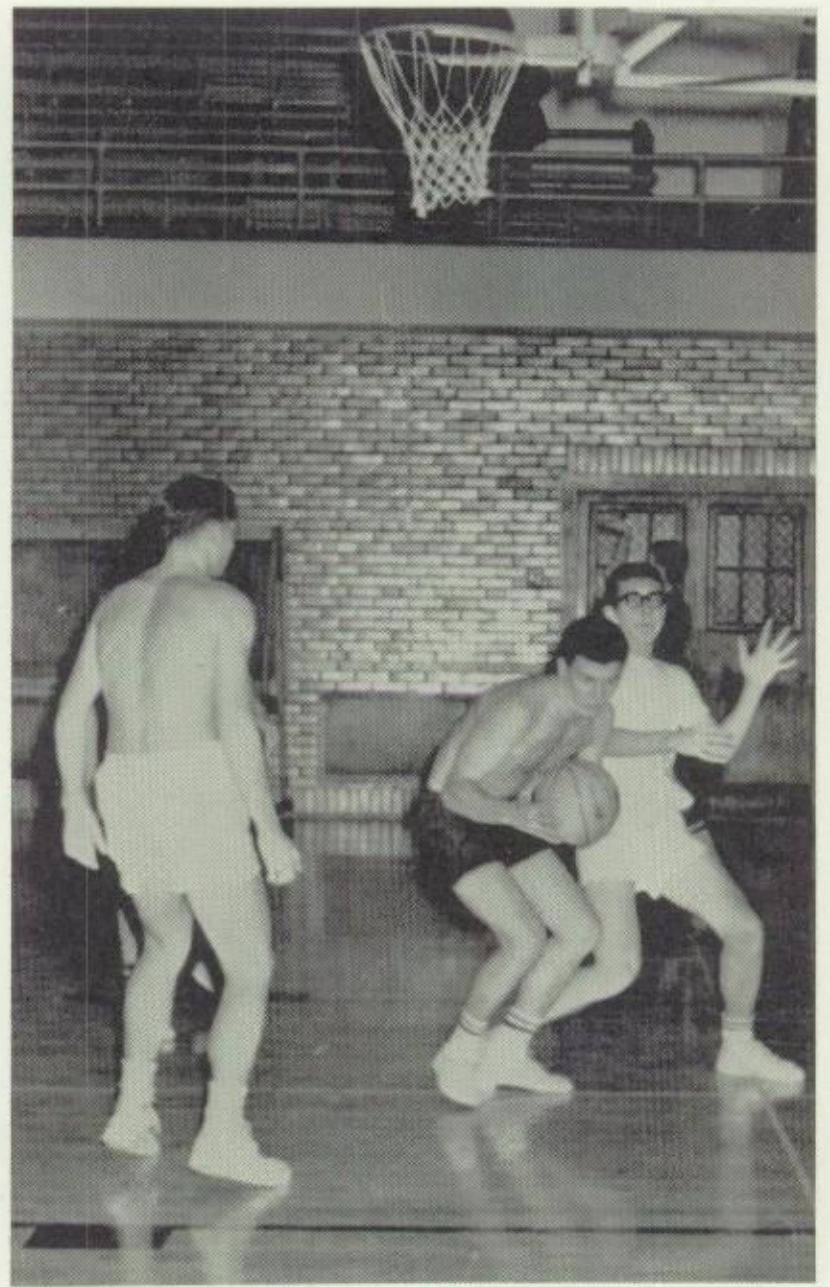

For a boy to be eligible to play in the sports, he must not be participating in that varsity sport at the time.

Fall tennis leads off the year, followed by basketball and bowling, which run at the same time. Volleyball and ping-pong round out the season.

When all the sports are completed, points are tabulated for the winners according to their homerooms. The homeroom totaling the most points receives a traveling plaque.

Coming down with a rebound for his team is Richard Eash.

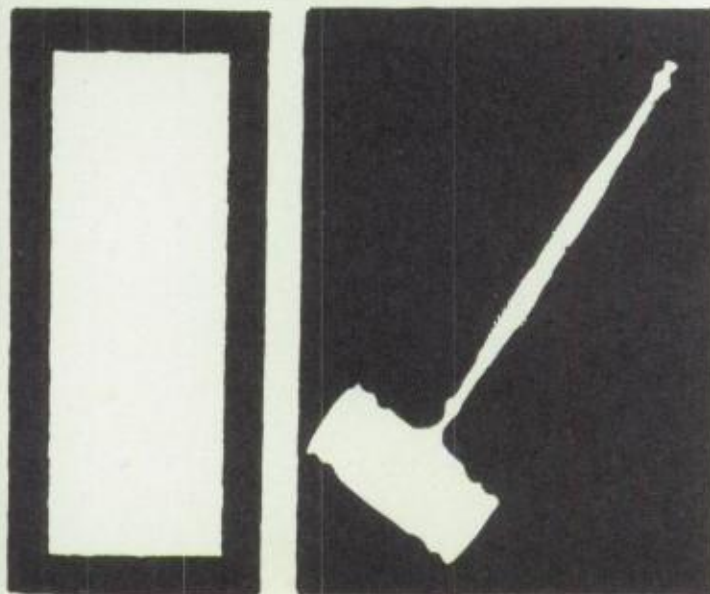

With more students than ever before participating in intramurals this year, things started off well. For the first time, a fall tennis tourney was staged for girls, with about twenty girls entered. In the boys' tourney there were ten boys entered, with Leroy Bell winning first place by beating Bob Wantiez. Bowling took the spotlight beginning in late fall. Teams were chosen, and names were taken from cartoon TV shows. Basketball was the main attraction during the winter, with a total of twelve teams in the league. At the end of the regular season a tournament was held for the top eight teams.

Roger Warden and Dennis Yetley of the Jestons get set to roll a strike at one of the Wednesday sessions of bowling.

Activities

Glance over your shoulder and look at yourself as one of "the gang." Your friends were those with your interests. Organizations helped promote those interests. This is what you'll remember when you look back and say, "Those were the days!" Remember the time you . . . ? And once in a while, everyone would forget everything but the all-important event coming up—make plans, get ready, and have a ball!

Homecoming and student exchange day are two events planned by Student Senate.

Pep Club goes all out to boost school spirit

Ushers greet the team as it comes on the floor.

Pep Club sponsors pep rallies for all the in-town games. The rallies are concluded by cheering in front of the "Y" and an after-pep rally dance.

A large crowd cheered the team on during an exciting Ames game. Many students took buses or cars to out-of-town games.

This year's Pep Club officers are Sue Abrahamson, Sally Chard, Joan Henderson, Martha Grimes, Sara Jacobson, Karen Pennell, Julie King, Sue Petersen, Patti Weidner, and Sherry Robeson. The club is co-sponsored by Mrs. Carol Dodd and Miss Margaret Byal.

The first pep rally of the year was held at football practice a week before school started. Cheerleaders practiced their routines with the support of loyal Bob-cat fans.

Sophomore Mermaids:

Mermaids, lined up for practice, are beautifully reflected in the pool.

Pam Herzog shows Mary Morris, Sue Adland, and Holley August her ideas for a new routine.

Bobettes:

Bobettes perform at five basketball games

The Bobettes for this year were chosen in the spring of last year from the juniors in GRA. They were judged on poise, rhythm, appearance, and imagination.

They made their first public appearance at the Regis game. They performed at four other games during the season.

The girls added red skirts to their red sweaters and rounded out their uniforms with small gold pins telling the year they were Bobettes.

This year the girls had to practice at 7:00 A.M. because of early morning classes. But all the practice was rewarded when the girls gave their performances at home games.

Bill Brownlee, gym club president, concentrates on a difficult stunt.

Charles Baker and Don Peak watch Gary Cook practice on the trampoline.

Hi-Y wins prize on float; has hayride

Hi-Y 63A:

Front Row: Dean Norland, Jim Maxfield, Clinton Coon, Jon Masmer, Rich Holm, Dave Gervich, Don Bloom. Second Row: Dave Cook, Dave Trowbridge, John Hilleman, Dale Dickkut, Dick Berg, Bob Hall, John Harding, Denny Kruse, Doug Boyd. Third Row: Chris Rosenfeld, Joe Miller, Craig Paul, Mike Neff, Jim Byrant, Joe Carter, Steve Brintnall, Don Ralf, Sponsor—Mr. Jim Elledge, Doug Roth, Gary Jordan, Tom Taylor.

Hi-Y Council presented this banner to the YMCA this fall. Council members pictured here are Russ Hickman, Doug Brown, Clint Coon, Dean Norland, and Paul Kvidera.

Hi-Y 64B took honors for the most original float in the competition of floats in the Homecoming parade. Rich Hayes was one of the attractive girls who rode on the float.

HI-Y 64B:

Hi-Y furnishes variety of activities for boys

Guest speakers featured at meetings throughout the year included Mr. William Britson, high school guidance director.

In contrast to GY's junior-senior club, the Hi-Ys are divided into small groups with several for each grade. Each of the clubs is busy with the year's projects: raising money for the club's treasury and building a float for the Homecoming, for example.

For the past few years these boys have taken it upon themselves to organize a YMCA boys' basketball team to compete with other towns. This year's team beat Newton in the district and then traveled to Clinton to compete with other district winners; they achieved a fourth place standing there. Members of the team, coached by Gary Mellows, are Denny Kruse, Jim Maxfield, John Hilleman, Terry Mellows, Joe Miller, John Harding, Doug Roth, Mike Neff, and Joe Carter.

One of four sophomore Hi-Y clubs is Hi-Y 65A. In the front row from left to right are Mike Fuller, vice president; Greg Brown, president; and Jack Clemons, secretary-treasurer. Tom Wauters, Kent Daggett, Thomas Mack, Clayton Williams, and Mike Reider are in the back row.

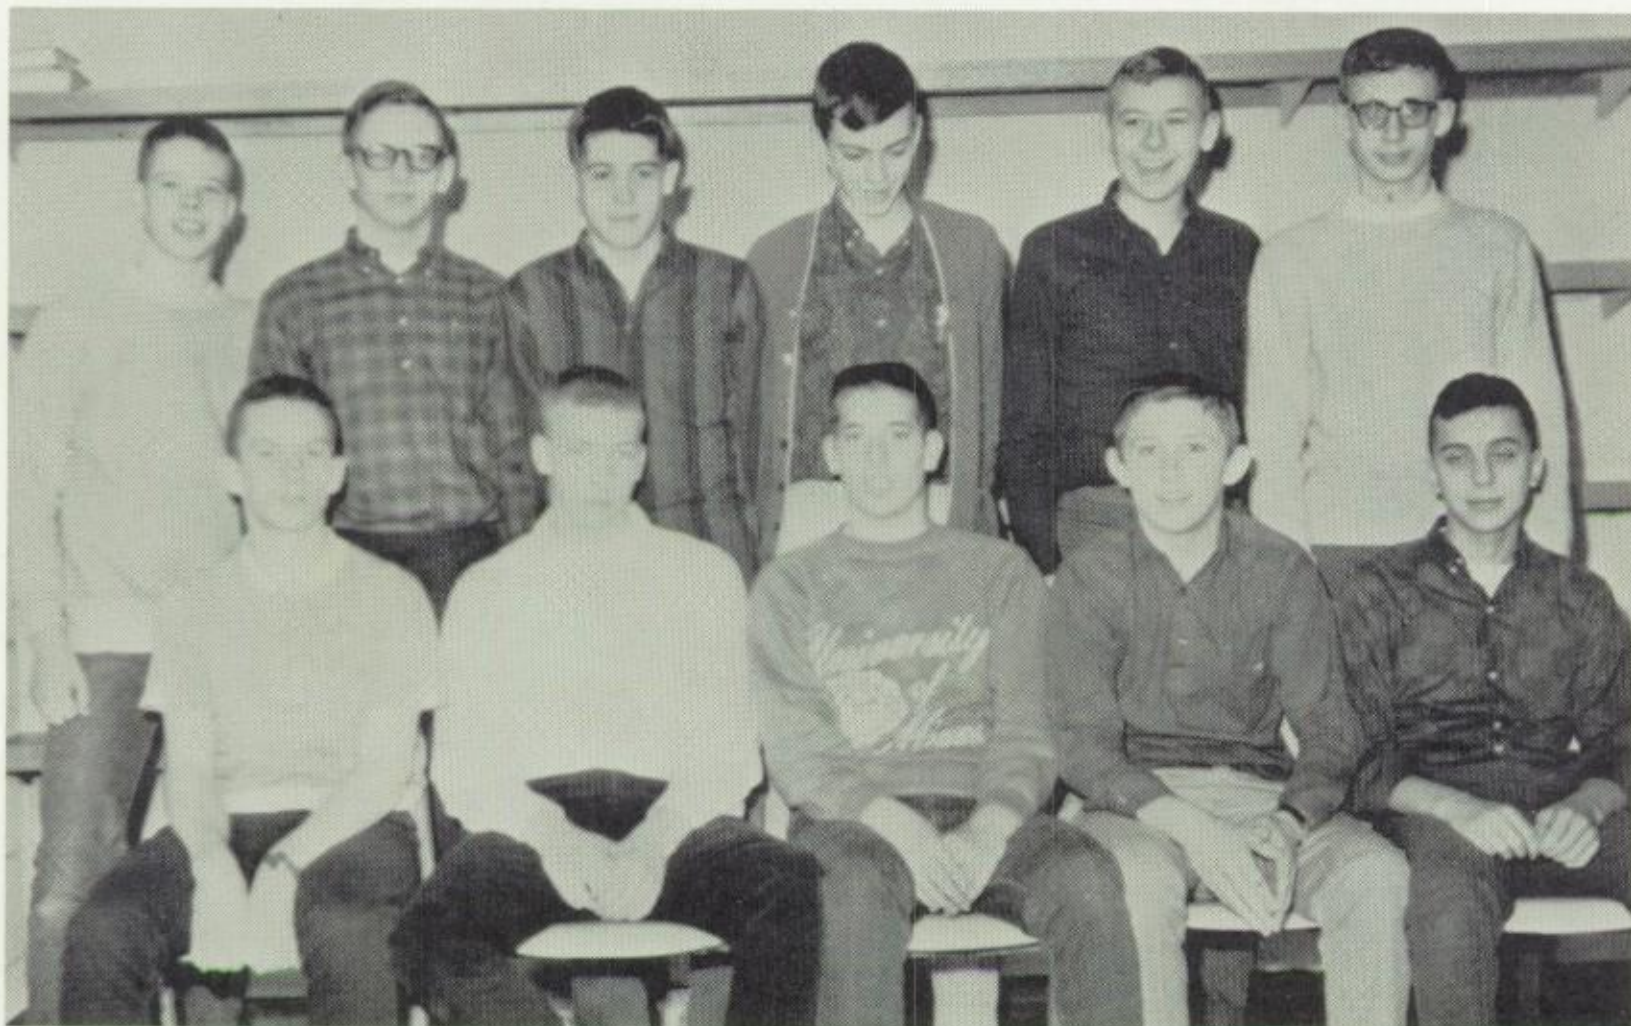

Four sophomore Hi-Y groups are active

Hi-Y 65B

Hi-Y goal: to build, strengthen character

Hi-Y 65C

Hi-Y 65D

Teachers were invited to GY's apple polishers' party. Here Julie King and Marilee Paulson talk with Mr. Appleby.

GY treasury passes one thousand mark

One of GY's jobs is to sponsor a dance after each home game. Two attending this dance are Christian Rosenfeld and Martha Grimes.

To finance their winter dance, the Snowball, GY members sold wreaths and evergreen sprays. Karen Moen delivers this product to her customer, Mrs. S. E. Harding.

The "Bell-Ringer Choir" of Ames provided entertainment at the annual Hi-Y/GY "Hanging of the Greens."

GY festivities add spirit to holiday season

The decorations for the Snowball, holiday formal, receive a finishing touch at the hands of Bonnie Samuel, Decorations Chairman.

Look back and widen your view to include all of Marshalltown. Those who have their name on the following pages are a few of those who placed their confidence in us, that we, as members of tomorrow's community, would carry on in fine tradition—be proud of Marshalltown as we are proud of MHS. There is another reason they are expressing themselves on the following pages. It seems to be obvious, so please read what they have to say.

NOW THAT WE HAVE FINISHED . . .

Thanks . . .

We, the editors, are now going to take a private look over our shoulder and remember those who have made our job of presenting a picture of the school year a little bit easier—those who went out of their way to help a struggling yearbook staff hold its head above water.

Our thanks go to Ron Anderson for his competent help in photo-enlarging, to Larry Dennis and the Times-Republican for donating pictures, to Jim Stutz and other "part-time photographers" who helped out when we were caught short of photographers, and to Apgar and Kenn's studios for offering their services.

We are indebted to Mr. Linehan and Margaret in the office for their willing help with our picture-scheduling problems.

Much credit goes to the entire Journalism II class who were ready and willing whenever needed for odd jobs, to those who volunteered their typing skill. And last, but certainly not least, to those members of the Post Script staff who went beyond the call of duty and remained until the last deadline when the job had become a chore instead of an exciting new activity—to Dave Gervich, Joyce Reisetter, Sheryl Readout, Chris Brown, and Tom Huxford.

For all these people we have no words—just feelings. "Thanks" isn't enough.

Now, look ahead . . .

You have looked over your shoulder long enough. You remember your friends, teachers, lessons, clubs, activities, and even the school building. Now, with a refreshed memory, look ahead—into the future.
